TAFT RESIGNS FROM SUPREME COURT

FORT SEEKING SANE WAY TO ENFORCE LAW

CONGRESSMAN ACTS TO CLARIFY ISSUE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1930, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, Feb. 3.—Although the white house denial that it inspired Representative Fort's speech on prohibition is generally accepted, the fact remains that a member of congress, intimately identified with the pre-convention campaign of Herbert Hoover, thought the subject of sufficient importance to address the house of Representatives in an attempt to lift the whole discussion to a higher plane.

Mr. Fort would not embarrass Mr. Hoover. He resigned a few days ago his connection with the Republican national committee in order that he might not embarrass his party. Coming from New Jersey, a wet state, Mr. Fort's remarks were received with rapt attention by the entire house. While there was much criticism from both wets and drys as to Mr. Frost's conclusion, the applause he received showed that the house approved his conscientious effort to find some way out of the present prohibition mix-up.

Fort Is Prohibitionist.

The New Jersey congressman thinks the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law were intended to suppress the liquor traffic, but the making of intoxicants in one's home is a private matter not prohibited by law. Mr. Fort is a prohibitionist and his speech takes on the great significance of his exhortation to the extreme drys to avoid doing things which he believes will cause the prohibition movement to lose ground and perhaps impair the economic advantages which he thinks have been derived from the prohibition laws.

There were drys, of course, who commented on Mr. Fort's speech as an effort to produce by definition something which the law itself in spirit prohibits. The Volstead act legalizes home-brew but at the same time makes it unlawful for anyone to sell utensils or to distribute a recipe telling people how to manufacture intoxicating liquor.

Boomed for Governor.

If Congressman Fort's speech had come at any other time and under other circumstances it would have gone into the congressional record as "Just another prohibition speech." But even though Mr. Hoover was not consulted in advance and is in no way responsible for Mr. Fort's views it is known that he regards highly the representative from New Jersey. In fact Congressman Fort is one of the outstanding men in the house of representatives today and he is being boomed for governor of New Jer-

DuPont Is Sued In Joint Damage Suit

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—Charging alienation of her husband's affections, Mrs. Mary Ball today filed suit in circuit court here for $1,000,000 damages against her former sister-in-law, Mrs. Jessie Ball DuPont, and the latter's husband, Alfred I. DuPont.

Although the bill of complaint made the charges specifically against Mrs. DuPont, Gordon McCauley, attorney for Mrs. Ball, explained that under the law it was necessary to name Mr. DuPont jointly with his wife in the litigation. Twelve counts were contained in the suit.

Distillery Starts Production of Rye

Baltimore, Feb. 3 (AP)—The first rye whiskey to be made in the United States under government supervision since 1921 was run into barrels today at the Baltimore plant of the American Medicinal Spirits company, the old Mount Vernon distillery which has been idle since 1917.

The company, under government permit has started production of 18,000 barrels for medicinal use, of which 35 per cent will be rye whiskey in Baltimore. Manufacture of Bourbon whiskey at the company's plant in Louisville, Ky., was begun in November.

COMPLAINTS TO SUPREME COURT

Parties in Lake Diversion Fight File Exceptions

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Chicago sanitary district and the Great Lakes states, parties to the controversy over the diversion of from Lake Michigan, today filed with the supreme exceptions to the report made by special master, Charles Hughes.

The sanitary district objected to thirteen of the recommendations of the special master, urging in particular that owing to the high water on the Great Lakes, the diversion will aid navigation and will protect property. It insisted there was no further occasion for the court longer to regard the diversion as injurious to navigation or harmful to property rights on the Great Lakes. It took exception to some of the proposed requirements with regard to the time within which Chicago must provide methods for the disposal of sewage.

The Great Lakes states joined in insisting that the sanitary district, instead of being required to reduce the diversion to not more than 1,500 cubic feet per second by the close of 1938, should be prohibited after that date from taking any water from the lake for diversion into the sanitary canal. They asserted that neither congress nor the courts had authority to permit the diversion of any water from the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence river watershed into the Mississippi without their consent.

The lakes states also asserted that the sewage of Chicago should be turned into Lake Michigan at a point sufficiently distant from the city as not to impair its water supply, and insisted that it was not necessary to use the sanitary canal for that purpose.

Request Gov. Green For More Funds for Prison Machinery

Lansing, Mich., Feb 3 (AP)—With the support of two members of the state prison today requested Governor Green for additions of $31,092 to the textile machinery at the prison. It would supply the state institutions with socks, underwear, hose and blankets. Warden Jackson said the new project would mean employment to about 150 additional prisoners.

Governor Green strongly favors the project but turned it over for investigation to G. R. Thompson, state budget director, with a view of determining whether the money is available in the prison industrial fund.

MAKE PLEA FOR PROTECTION OF FARM PRODUCE

MICHIGAN FARMERS ALSO WANT INCOME LEVY

BY S. B. McCOOLE

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

East Lansing, Mich., Feb. 3 (AP)—Farmers' Week opened at the Michigan State College today with a loud cry for more protection on agricultural products and the replacement of the state property tax with an income levy.

Want Income Levy

The Michigan state Grange, which battled for an income levy during the last legislature, decided through its legislative committee today that the income tax is "inevitably on the way." Leaders insisted that the state either pass an income law or else the federal government return a large enough rebate on the national tax paid by Michigan to make the property tax unnecessary.

Grange leaders also announced the inauguration of a campaign to elect state officers favorabel to the income tax from the governor on down.

As the state organization's legislative committee was declaring for an income tax, James Farmer, national lecturer for the Grange, declared that farmers are still dissatisified with agricultural tariffs. He claimed discrimination in favor of manufacturers. Former urged ruralists to advertise their agricultural products before harvest.

L. BOURDELAIS CRASH VICTIM

Dies From Complications at St. Francis Hospital

Lawrence Bourdelais died last evening at St. Francis hospital from injuries he received in an automobile accident on Monday, January 20. He had been rapidly recovering from his injuries until yesterday noon when his condition took a turn for the worse and pheumonia set in. His death occurred at 8:45 p. m.

The accident occurred on U. S. 2 just below the Terrace Garden dance resort when his car struck an obstruction in the road causing it to run off the left side of the highway into a tree. The resulting impact broke all of Mr. Bourdelais' ribs on the left side and punctured his left lung. He was rushed to St. Francis hospital where he was since been receiving medical attention.

Mr. Bourdelais was the proprietor of the Club Cafe restaurant. He is survived by his wife, three children, Cecile, 10, Marie Alice 8, and Arthur 6. Other survivors are his mother, Mrs. Frances Bourdelais; three sisters, Mrs. Joseph London, Muskegon; Mrs. John Semer, Gladstone, and Miss Margaret Bourdelais of this city, and two brothers, Herbert, Bay City, and Earl of Escanaba.

The body is being prepared for burial at the Allo funeral home. No arrangements have been made in regard to the funeral.

Two Caretakers Are Bound and Gagged

Detroit, Feb. 3 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones, caretakers of an apartment house at 651 Henry street were left bound and gagged in two different parts of their building today by two men who escaped with $310 in cash and checks.

The men entered the building posing as apartment renters and got Mrs. Jones to show them an apartment on the fifth floor where they covered her with a pistol and tied her. They then went down to the office of the building where they overpowered Jones.

DRY TRANSFER IS AN ENIGMA

House Battles Over Industrial Alcohol Control

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—The movement to empower the attorney general to dictate how industrial alcohol permits should be regulated by the secretary of the treasury received more attention in the house today as the prohibition enforcement transfer bill was reported for consideration Thursday.

The first of President Hoover's recommendations aimed to strengthen dry law enforcement appeared to face a stormy voyage in the house. A group composed of both wets and drys are determined to eliminate the provision to place the responsibility of administering industrial alhocol jointly with the treasury and justice departments.

Industrial Alky Blamed

Although given legislative preference by the rules committee, the way has been left open for the seven members of the expenditures committee who opposed the provision to bring before the house an amendment to place the sole regulatory power with the attorney general.

The seven minority members, consisting of five drys and two wets, held in their report today that the "illegal diversion of industrial alcohol under the existing enforcement provisions with dual responsibility, has caused the present deplorable conditions in the enforcement of the prohibition laws." Hwever, they joined with the majority in support of the transfer.

Other house wets and drys said they would support the group led by Representative Gasque, dry, of South Carolina, the ranking Democrat on the expenditures committee. He predicted the amendment would be accepted by the house.

Yes and No

Another development in the prohibtion tangle occurred before a senate judiciary sub-committee, where Jacob D. Walter, who was

Takes Efforts of Fifteen to Subdue Wild Bank Robber

Detroit, Feb. 3 (AP)—The efforts of 15 policemen and bank employes were required today to place John Melandis, 28, in a cell after he was accused of having attempted to rob the First National Bank at Woodward avenue and Cadillac Square of $1,000.

Melandis entered the bank at 10:20 a. m. and walked into the cage of Arthur Brennan, teller in the bond exchange department. There he is said to have grabbed a package containing $1,000 in bills. When Brennan grabbed the parcel back he attempted to choke him and was only subdued after three bank guards and a customer had joined in the struggle.

At headquarters Melandis engaged seven policemen in a pitched battle before they could register him. When the handcuffs were removed he resumed fighting and was overpowered by four officers.

Suggests One Cent Increase In Detroit Street Car Fares

Detroit, Feb. 3 (AP)—An increase in street car fares from the present six cents, nine for 50 cents, to seven cents, eight for 50 cents, was recommended to the street railway commission today by John H. Morgan, auditor for the department of street railways. Mr. Morgan estimated that this would increase the annual revenue by more than $2,000,000. No action was taken on the recommendation.

Wife Of Razor Manufacture Is Granted Divorce

Reno, Nev., Feb. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Caldwell Gillette was today granted a divorce in district court from King Gaines Gillette, son of the inventor of the safety razor of that name. Custody of the adopted daughter was given to Gillette by agreement. The grounds were mental cruelty.

ENVOYS START ON ALLOTMENT MATTER TODAY

WILL DETERMINE GUNS AND TONS OF NATIONS

BY FRANK H. KING

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 3 (AP)—The London naval conference tonight had prepared itself for tomorrow's attack on the cross-word puzzle of naval disarmament—the allotment of tons and guns to each of the five nations participating.

As cross-word puzzle fans surround themselves with dictionaires, so the naval delegates and experts have gathered their bossiers, memoranda and bundles of statistics to carry to St. James' palace and there start filling in the great white spaces of the tonnage plan.

Difficult Task

Downward in the first column go the total navy tonnages for each nation. Crosswise go divisions of that total figure to be used in construction of each class of warships. It will be a difficult task and is expected to last many days—only a start will be made tomorrow.

For not only one tonnage puzzle is to be solved but at least two, the British delegation late today having circulated to American, French, Italian and Japanese delegations a counter proposal to the French plan.

A British spokesman announced that the British plan was in-

CANADIANS TO PROBE SHOOTING

Wounded Man Says He Was Shot by Customs Officials

Detroit, Feb. 3 (AP)—Col. S. C. Robinson, member of parliament for Essex West, announced today he would ask the Canadian government to investigate the shooting of Arthur LaFramboise, of La Salle, Ont., on the Detroit River at 1 a. m. today.

Federal authorities at Detroit denied that La Framboise had been shot by customs border patrol inspectors as he charged in a statement made at the Hotel Dieu, Windsor, Ont. No reports of any shootings have been made to federal agencies here, they said. Immigration authorities said that LaFromboise has been sought as an alien smuggler on several occasions and may have been wounded in warfare between rival alien smuggling rings.

Suffers Scalp Wounds

La Fromboise, who suffered two scalp wounds after having, by his own story, assisted a rum-runner in freeing his ice-bound sled from the Detroit river, near Fighting Island, said he was shot while on the Canadian side by two men who wore uniform caps and appeared to be customs officers. He disclaimed any connection with rum-running interests and records of the border patrol and Canadian authorities have thus far failed to discredit his assertion. He had admitted that he is sought as an alien smuggler.

La Fromboise said today that he had driven his automobile out on the ice to help a friend free a load of liquor and had started back when the ice gave way and he abandoned his car which went into the water. He then continued afoot toward the Canadian shore. The two supposed customs officers hailed him soon after, he said, but as he was on thte Canadian side of the boundary he did not stop. The men then started shooting and two of their bullets struck him, he said.

Man Shoots Divorcee For Refusing to Wed

Detroit, Feb. 3 (AP)—George Wilson, 36, shot and wounded Mrs. Leoto Whitman, 33, in the basement of an apartment house here tonight and then turned the weapon on himself, inflicting a serious wound. Physicians at Receiving hospital reported both in a serious condition.

Wilson said that he had repeatedly asked Mrs. Whitman, who is divorced, to elope with him. He repeated his pleas tonight after getting her to go to the basement of a building where she was visiting friends in order that they might hold a private conversation. He said that renewed refusal caused him to shoot her and himself. Wilson told police he is separated, but not divorced from his wife, Elizabeth.

DRY AGENTS NAB 3 TRENARY MEN

Pass-Time Gardens Dance Hall Is Raided by Officers

Trenary, Mich., Feb. 3 (Special)—Three Trenary business men were arrested on charges of violating the prohibition laws after raids conducted late Saturday night by federal, state and county law enforcement officers.

They are: Orville Weiland, proprietor of the Pass-Time Gardens dance hall; Zeph Labumbard, owner of a barber shop in the building, and Louis Fournier, who conducts a barber shop directly across the street.

Previous Offender

Hitting the Pass-Time Gardens first, the federal prohibition agents and state police of Marquette and sheriff's officers from Munising seized a case of bottled beer and a large quantity of mash. In Fournier's place, about five gallons of moonshine whisky were found.

Arraigned before Court Commissioner Charles F. Button in Marquette this morning, the three men demanded an examination, which was set for February 18. Bonds for Weiland and Labumbard were fixed at $2,500, and for Fourner at $3,500. They are being held in the Marquette county jail in default of bail. Fournier has a record of previous offenses. He served a term in the Detroit house of correction in 1925 upon conviction in federal court for a dry law violation.

Judge Says Bonds Signed By Nolet Not to be Honored

Bay City, Mich., Feb. 3 (AP)—Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle today called before him some 30 persons now under federal indictments to inform them that their bonds, signed by Archie Nolet, local meat packer, could not be honored.

Nolet is held in the Bay county jail under $30,000 bond pending his trial on a charge of arson in connection with the burning of the Nolet Packing Company plant three weeks ago.

Judge Tuttle said he had refused to accept Nolet's signature as surety against the return of defendants for whom cases are pending in federal court. The amount involved in the bonds totaled approximately $90,000.

Day in Washington

Senate debated duties on coal tar dyes and medicinal products.

The house reported prohibition transfer bil for consideration Thursday.

Plans were announced at White House for President Hoover to make a fishing trip to Florida late this week.

President Hoover nominated Charles Evans Hughes to succeed Chief Justice William Howard Taft who resigned a few hours earlier.

INWOOD FARMER KILLS HIMSELF

Marcus Stammers, 55, Was Worried Over Money Matters

Manistique, Mich., Feb. 3 (Special)—The body of Marcus Stammers, 55, well known farmer of Inwood township, was found on his bed in his farmhome Sunday noon. His hands still gripped the 12 gauge double-barreled shotgun which he had used to end his life.

Stammers apparently had sat down on the edge of the bed Saturday, night, put the gun muzzle under his chin and holding the barrels with his left hand, pulled the trigger with the other hand. Both barrels had been loaded, but he discharged only one. The gunshot tore away the front part of his head. Teeth, flesh and hair were scattered about the bedroom.

Found by Housekeeper

The gruesome discovery was made by Edith Middaugh, his housekeeper for the last 12 years, when she returned to the Stammers farmhouse after a visit in Manistique where she attended a ladies aid meeting at a church. She remained Saturday night at the farm home of William Hartman, and arrived at the Stammers farm shortly before noon. She pried open a window to gain her entrance, and noticing the kerosene lantern on the stairway was still lit, she went to Stammers' room. Upon being notified, Sheriff William Hewitt and Coroner W. F. Kefauver investigated the tragedy, and gave as their report that it was a case of suicide.

HUGHES GETS TAFT'S JOB AS CHIEF JUSTICE

HOOVER PROMPTLY APPOINTS HIM TO OFFICE

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—William Howard Taft resigned today as chief justice of the United States and President Hoover promptly appointed Charles Evans Hughes to succeed him.

Despite his failing health, the sudden voluntary ending of the public career of Mr. Taft with its span of forty years came as a public surprise, but little more so than did the selection of the former secretary of state as his successor.

Son Brings Resignation

The resignation of the only man to be both president and chief justice was presented to the president just before noon by a son, Robert A. Taft. He had brought it to Washington from Asheville, where Mr. Taft had been resting for three weeks after a recurrence of an old organic ailment.

Accepting the resignation with reluctance, Mr. Hoover determined to name a successor as speedily as possible so that there might be the minimum of delay in handling the business of the court.

He located Mr. Hughes in New York by long distance telephone, offered him the post and there was a prompt acceptance.

Senate Gets Nomination

The nomination immediately was prepared and transmitted to the senate soon after 4 p. m. Prompt confirmation is looked for with the expectation that Mr. Hughes will take his place as chief justice within the very near future.

From the moment of the announcement of the resignation of Mr. Taft until the nomination of Mr. Hughes was sent to the senate, the belief had been fairly general in both official and supreme court circles that Associate Justice Harlan Fiske Stone would be elevated to the highest judicial post in the country.

By speedily filling the post, the chief executive cut short speculation as to Mr. Taft's probable successor. Hughes and Stone already were being mentioned prominently, as well as former President Coolidge and Senator Borah of Idaho.

Son Will Resign

Appointment of Mr. Hughes as chief justice will create another vacancy in the federal service. His son, Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., will resign as solicitor general of the United States, since this official argues the more important cases for the government before the supreme court.

In New York Mr. Hughes said he would accept the nomination to be chief justice. It was not known here whether he would resign as a justice of the permanent court of international arbitration. However, it was assumed that his duties as chief justice would be so exacting that he would be unable to find the time to sit with the international court at The Hague.

Taft Very Weak

Weighted alike by serious illness and his 73 years of age, William Howard Taft was returning to Washington tonight from Asheville, his physicians having decided that it would be safer to get him back to Washington.

"Mr. Taft is very weak and is not improving," said Dr. Francis

Lindbergh Gives Friends a Thrill As He Flies Disabled Sail Plane

LeBec, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh treated a few flying friends, news reel cameramen and newspapermen to a real thrill today. He disappeared in the heart of the Terachapi mountains in a disabled sail plane causing grave concern for his safety. For an hour or more in this isolated area it was unknown whether the famous flyer had cracked up or whether he had mastered a crippled motorless ship.

Then he came up smiling. Just another experimental flight and no harm done, he revealed.

Sail Plane Test

Lindbergh came here Sunday with Hawley Bowlus of San Diego, champion American glider pilot, to "play and experiment" with a sail plane, motorless flying ship. They established a camp ten miles beyond the ridge route, main highway through the mountains.

It was revealed later that they expected to break the world's record for gliders, eight hours in the air, now held by Germany. For that reason this mountainous area with his diminishing hills levelling out into the Mojave valley to the north was selected for the experiment.

Bowlus this morning immediately after the assembly of the sail plane, which was brought here on a motor truck, made two trial flights, hopping in each flight from hill to hill.

Then "Lindy" took off. As he sailed into the air the right aileron became detached. As warning shouts on the ground sought to apprise him of the mishap, the colonel circled around, gracefully maneuvering the sail plane on the air currents.

Then he soared over a distant hill and descended out of view.

Lands Safely

Fearing disaster, the little group started from the camp to seek the missing flyer. They had not gone far however when they came to a point where it was seen that the sail plane had landed safely. Lindberg was found surveying the ship. It was undamaged other than the loss of the aileron.

At no time was the sail plane out of control, Lindbergh revealed, and he was merely descending to a landing when he disappeared from the view of the men at the camp.

Today's flights were merely test takeoffs to determine the condition of flying in this area.

Further tests will be made Wednesday and as soon as Lindbergh and Bowlus are satisfied with conditions here, the flight seeking to break the world's record will be made.

Recent Bombings Resolve Chicago Police to Rid City of Gangsters

BY RODERICK GRANT

(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Chicago, Feb. 3 (AP)—Fifty weeks ago a committee of executioners emerged from a North Clark street whiskey depot leaving seven dead and dying men lying at the base of a well, pock-marked with machine gun bullets.

The law began its work.

Names were posted of seventeen "men wanted." Two men were arrested and indicted. One was slain, the other dismissed for want of evidence.

Police Begin Work

Investigators determined to exterminate the roots of the gangs. Dog race tracks, reputed source of much gang wealth, were closed. Headquarters of slot machine syndicates were raided, vice resorts closed, liquor syndicates in Chicago Heights and the Indiana suburbs and Melrose Park prosecuted.

The killings went on by threes and twos.

February, month of the greatest gang murders, has come again and gangland, unpunished by law, goes on punishing its own. In the last five days four men have been shot to death and another, Johnny Genero, still lingers alive with five wounds that will probably prove fatal. Bombings, merely an annoyance in 1929, have graduated into the big business category. A terrific explosion shattered the grocery of Sam Madonia and an adjoining row of stores today, causing damage approximately $100,000 and bringing the aggregate damage from eleven bombs this year to $216,400. In 1929 the total dammage from bombs was estimated at $197,000.

Grocers Bombed

The bombings most recently have centered on groceries, an indication, police said, that organized gangs have turned their intimidating tactics upon Italian grocers. Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, acting on the theory, sent out for Joe Aiello today—Aiello, who has often been named among the North Side liquor racketeers.

"Numerous complaints have come," said Roche, "that Joe Aiello and his gang have been going about among Italian grocers demanding that they buy their supplies from him. When the grocer protested against the

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. BUCHANAN

Funeral Services to be Held in Escanaba Wednesday

Mrs. Anna Buchanan, 70, widow of the late Alex Buchanan, died at her home, 712 West C street Iron Mountain, Sunday morning at 2:45 o'clock, following an illniss of one week. A complication of diseases was given as the cause of death.

Mrs. Buchanan was born in Scotland, October 28, 1859, and came to this country in 1881. The family settled at Paterson, N. J., and after residing there for eight years they came to Escanaba where they lived until four years ago, when Mrs. Buchanan left for Iron Mountain.

She was widely known here and had a host of close friends. She is survived by one daughter and four sons: Mrs. D. F. Villemure, Frank X. and Clyde of Iron Mountain; Joseph L. of Luxembourg, Wis., and Allan of Kewaunee, Wis; three grandchildren, Mary Lee, Rita Jean and Alex John of Iron Mountain. Her husband died in this city several years ago.

The body will remain at the Buchanan-Villemure funeral parlors, Iron Mountain, until this afternoon, when it will be taken to this city and will be taken to the Allo Funeral Home where it will remain until Wednesday morning at nine o'clock when funeral services will be conducted at St. Patrick's church.

The Rev. Fr. John Mockler, pastor of the parish, will be celebrant at the solemn requiem high mass and will be assisted by the Rev. Fr. J. Beauchene, pastor of the parish of which Mrs. Buchanan was a member at Iron Mountain, also the Rev. Fr. L. Trojanowski of Niagara, Wis., a close friend of the family.

Relatives will accompany the remains to this city. Burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

Trouser Pockets Looted By Thief; Report $41 Gone

Police were called yesterday to investigate a robbery at the Frenn home, 1825 Third avenue north, which was entered early Monday morning and $41 taken from the trouser pockets of two men.

According to information supplied the police department, the losers were James Frenn and Harold McNaughton, both employed by the Northern Motor company. Billfolds were replaced and pockets buttoned up after the contents of the wallets had been taken. Mr. McNaughton reported $35 missing and Mr. Frenn $6. Apparently entrance to the rooms had been gained by the rear stairway, and it is believed that the robbery took place around 3 or 4 a. m., as they reported that they had not retired until 2 a. m.

Kull-Bjurman

The marriage of Miss Viola Kull, daughter of John Kull of Stonington, and Fred Bjurman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bjurman, also of Stonington, was solemnized by the Rev. H. O. Danielson at the parsonage of Bethany Lutheran church, Rapid River, Saturday afternoon, February 1, at two o'clock.

The attendants were Miss Anna Bjurman, sister of the bridegroom, and Ewald Kull, brother of the bride.

The bridal gown was of blue flat crepe with blue felt hat of the same color, and the bridal bouquet was of roses and carnations.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of rose colored silk and carried a bouquet similar to the one carried by the bride.

A dinner was served at the home of the bride's father, where thirty guests were served and entertained throughout the evening.

The couple will make their home in this city temporarily, and later at Stonington.

The bride formerly lived at Gladstane where she was born. Mr. Bjurman was born and reared at Stonington.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

OBITUARY

SAMPSON J. SPARGO

Many relatives and friends attended the impressive funeral services which were conducted Monday afternoon at three o'clock for Sampson J. Spargo, at his home, 400 South Twelfth street, with the Rev. R. C. G. Williams, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. Rev. Williams gave a very eloquent funeral sermon, using as his text, Psalm 116, fifteenth verse, "Precious in the eyes of the Lord is the death of His saints." Mrs. Ed Lucas sang three numbers, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Sweet Bye and Bye" and "Abide With Me."

Out-of-town relatives who arrived in the city include Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Burns, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Spargo, Wittenberg, Wis.; Mrs. E. C. Wells, Houston, Texas; Charles J. Spargo, Bondewell, Wis.

The body will be taken to Negaunee this morning at 4:40 o'clock via the Chicago and North Western and funeral services will be held there this afternoon. Burial will be in the family lot in the Negaunee cemetery.

MRS. ADRIENNE DURANCEAU

A solemn requiem high mass was offered at the Holy Family church, Flat Rock, Monday morning at nine o'clock when funeral services were held for Mrs. Adrienne Duranceau, widow of the late Charles Duranceau.

The Rev. Fr. George LaForest, pastor of the congregation, was the celebrant, assisted by Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. G. Jacques of St. Anne's church, and Rev. Fr. J. Beauchene of Iron Mountain, as deacon and sub-deacon.

The church was filled with relatives and friends of Mrs. Duranceau, who had lived in that district for more than fifty years.

The many beautiful flowers and the large number of spiritual offerings which were received at the home testified the many close friendships which Mrs. Duranceau had formed during her residence in Flat Rock.

The casket was carried by six nephews of the decedent: Joseph Trureau, Dona Duranceau, Raymond, Edmund, Dona and Frank Barron.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sharkey and children, John, Don and Clement, of Iron Mountain came to Flat Rock for the services.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Anne's cemetery in this city.

BATTLES OVER DYE INTERESTS

Senate Will Settle Issue on Chemicals Today

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP) — Reaching the important section of the tariff bill which continues in effect the post-war policy of basing duties on coal tar dyes and medicinal products on American valuation, the senate today heard monopoly charges against both the American and European chemical industries in arguments for and against repeal of the section. A vote probably will be reached tomorrow.

Arguing for repeal, Senator LaFollette, Republican Independent, Wisconsin, said the American dye and chemical companies were engaged in "combinations to fix prices and to control the American market." He declared use of the American instead of foreign valuation provided an embargo against foreign dyes, and that domestic producers not only supplied 94 per cent of the American market and made huge profits, but exported dyes at prices below those charged in this country.

Urges Continuance

Senator Hatfield, Republican, West Virginia, urged continuance of the present valuation formula in the interest of national defense and protection from what he termed the European "monopoly" built up by the German I. G. He read government reports asserting the European combination was organized to fix prices and said if there were any price fixing in this country, he would side with the American rather than the Europeans.

Both parties are expected to be divided on the vote on the coal-tar paragraphs. Some Democrats feel that to vote for repeal would be inconsistent with the wishes of the late President Wilson, who urged an embargo on German dyestuffs after the war and called upon congress to enact high tariffs to build up a domestic industry.

Prepares Amendment

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, one of those favoring retention of American valuation, prepared an amendment providing for an investigation and report by the tariff commission by January 1, 1932, on rates on the dyes and chemicals in question into ad valorems based on foreign valuation but carrying the same degree of protection as now in force under American valuation.

Under the proposal, the commission also would be asked to ascertain whether there exists abroad "any cartel, trust, combination, or association" in the coal tar products, the effect thereof on international commerce, and the extent to which prices are affected.

With disposition tomorrow of the dye question, the tariff bill will be ready for return to the senate itself after being in committee of the whole since September 9. Then the entire measure will be thrown open to individual amendment.

Discussing plans of the Democrats when this stage is reached, Senator Harrison said today that minority amendments would be offered to "reduce those rates where facts show a large exportation and an unappreciable importation."

FORT SEEKING SANE WAY TO ENFORCE LAW

sey, a position which his father held more than twenty years ago.

Mr. Fort's speech may be an indication of how seriously the drys are taking the prohibition discussion. There is a tendency to divide into two camps—one being those who uncompromisingly insist that the issue is the repeal or retention of the eighteenth amendment and that the word manufacture does cover the home as well as the liquor traffic outside the home. The other group of drys are nearer to the middle of the road, being anxious to avoid any material modification of either the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead law but recognizing that the constant bombardment of the prohibition statutes is having an effect on public sentiment and making it more and more difficult to secure observance of the law.

Public Sentiment.

Mr. Fort's suggestion was that if the law were directed at the liquor traffic, public sentiment would rally behind it whereas the consumption at home of intoxicating beverages was such a personal and private matter that when the law seeks to invade this precinct, public sentiment rebels.

The fact of the matter is, however, that if the distinction made by Representative Fort were to be formally sanctioned it would lead to agitation for the repeal of those sections of the Volstead act when indirectly interfere with home manufacture. Then there is the ever recurrent problem of what constitutes transportation. Under existing law even liquor that is home-brewed cannot be carried from one house to another without a permit. The moment the restrictions are removed in order to take care of home manufacture, the extreme drys insist it will be twice as difficult as it is today to suppress liquor traffic.

What Congressman Fort, however, has done is to put the discussion of prohibition on such a plane that other speeches in the house are likely to be made, actually arguing many of the vital points that have hitherto been obscure because extremists on both sides have monopolized the debate.

MAKE PLEA FOR PROTECTION OF FARM PRODUCE

twice as much protection as the farmer. He also gets the "drawback" privilege whereby most of the duty paid by him is returned in the event that he is not able to find a market for his product."

A warning against the spread of Bang's disease in cattle and its accompanying undulant fever, in humans, was sounded by M. S. C. specialists. With four dairy associations holding meetings today, the emphasis was all on the control of the disease. State Guernsey breeders urged state participation in its eradication.

Dr. E. T. Hallman, M. S. C. pathologist, told farmers that Michigan is paying a toll of $5,500,000 a year to the disease, or one-seventh of the state's investment in dairy cows. He declared vaccination unsatisfactory as a control method and urged slaughter as a control method and urged slaughter or segregation of infected herds.

Blames Unemployment

C. W. Nelson, college diary specialist, blamed many of the ills of the dairy market on unemployment. "The problem is not one of overproduction but of underconsumption," he said.

The following officers were elected today: Holstein Friesman association: President, J. E. McWilliams, Mt. Clemens; vice president, M. D. Buth, Comstock park; secretary-treasurer, J. G. Hayes, M. S. C.

Jersey Cattle club: President, George Cooper, Fenton; secretary-treasurer, Sheldon H. Hatourette, Ann Arbor.

Guernsey Breeders association: President, John Endicott, Birmingham; vice president, George Dean, Albion; secretary, George Burrows, Saginaw; treasurer, Hoyt Woodman, Saginaw.

Brown Swiss Breeders association: President, Milo H. Peterson, Iowa; secretary-treasurer, Erwin Kraus, Sebweaing; vice president, Ernest Sherwood, Saranac.

tended to widen the scope of discussions in a spirit of conciliation and agreement. The French delegates, after being informed of its details, accepted the proposal as such. They expressed the opinion that general disarmament discussions would be advanced thereby.

The Americans will have no suggestions to make, but it is assumed they have discussed the situation with the British and the two delegations are not far apart on systems of limiting tonnage. Great Britain, the United States and Japan embrace the theory of limitation by various categories, while France and Italy favor limitation by total tonnage only.

Stimson In Meeting

Colonel Stimson, head of the American delegation, Secretary Adams and Senator Reed conferred with Premier MacDonald and Foreign Minister Henderson for two hours tonight at the prime ministers' office in the house of commons preparatory to tomorrow's meeting of all the delegates beginning at 10 a. m.

It is not expected that tomorrow's session will reach the stage of detailed figures on the size of various navies—in fact, the program of work which is about to be launched may be so involved and require so much time that other questions may be brought informally and groomed for presentation to a conference board. The long discussion of the Americans with the premier is understood to have had this purpose in view as well as preparations for tomorrow's meeting.

It can be stated that no agreement on percentage of transfer of tonnage involved in both British and French plans has been reached or is even in sight, and in some quarters it is thought none will be reached until private conferences now progressing on other phases of the disarmament situation have gone much farther.

DRY TRANSFER IS AN ENIGMA

being examined as a nominee for United States marshal in Connecticut, replied, "yes and no" when asked if he drank. Walter said he favored enforcing the prohibition law and his nomination was unanimously approved. He explained that he had no appetite for drink, but added that he had drank.

The house wet bloc will meet tomorrow to formulate its plan to contest for 2.75 per cent beer, repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead act when hearings open before the house judiciary committee on February 12.

Provides Dual Control

Representative Clancy, Republican, Michigan, announced he had received a telegram from Horace W. Bigelow of the Parke Davis and company, a large industrial alcohol consumer, opposing the Williamson bill on the ground that it provides dual control of the permits.

"No legitimate user of alcohol should be required to operate under the supervision of two government departments," the telegram read. It advocated that "unrestricted control of the items" existing under the national prohibition act" be given to the treasury department.

AWAIT STRAWN MONEY REPORT

Rescue Committee Will Offer Chicago Plan Today

Chicago, Feb. 3 (AP)—Chicago and Cook county were marking time in the financial bog today with an eye cocked on the Silas Strawn citizens recus committee.

The county board and its finance committee, which had sessions scheduled for today, postponed them until tomorrow when the Strawn committee is expected to announce a definite policy in the distribution of money from its pool to various governmental agencies.

$6,000,000 For Pay Roll

The finance committee of the city council, it was stated, was preparing to ask the Strawn committee for $6,000,000 to meet the Feb. 15 payroll and for $4,000,000 per month thereafter until the long delayed taxes are collected.

Pending the announcement of a definite policy by the Strawn group, county commissioners have been holding in abeyance their plan to pay the county's 4,000 employes, jurors and mothers pensions with small 1930 tax anticipation warrants.

May Boycott Script

Many bankers have opposed the script payment plan. A statement warning outlying bankers not to accept the script caused some indignation in the county building, where some held it tantamount to boycott.

Joseph L. Moss, director of the Bureau of Public Welfare, said economic conditions among county employes and pensioned mothers, was growing acute.

"In addition to 1,642 mothers feeling the pinch,' 'he said, "there are 5,700 children. We are furnishing food, coal, shoes and milk to them against the amounts of the overdue pensions, but they are being pressed for rent and their credit for other necessities has been strained to the limit."

Apply for Aid

Many small salaried employes of the city and county have applied to the bureau for aid, Moss said.

Some creditors of the city and county also were reported embarrassed by the inability of the governmental customers to pay their bills. At least one warned he was facing bankruptcy.

Despite news of the money raised by the Strawn committee, county employes were fearing that Wednesday, ordinarily payday, will be just Wednesday again. Unless there is money, it will be the third successive payless payday for them.

Recent Bombings; Chicago Police Rid City Of Gangsters

purchase oftentimes the supplies were left anyway and the grocers were forced to pay for them willy-nilly."

A multiplicity of motives, as often before, has balked the detectives hunting down clues to the series of slayings.

A Beer Hauler

Joseph "The Dude" Cada, shot to death and left in his automobile at Broadway and Leland Avenue at down Sunday, was a graduate of the beer-hauling school.

Ulius Rosenheim, slain by pistol shots Saturday morning, held a long record as "squealer" and police tipster.

Barney J. Mitchell, treasurer of the Checker Taxi company, and the driver of his cab, George Glenn Jackson, were shot last Thursday and police surmise they paid a penalty for dismissal of a gang of "muscle men" from the employ of the company.

Rout McGurn

Only in the Rosenheim killing have arrests been made. Two detectives with eyes for gangsters routed Jack McGurn and Tony Accardo from their taxi Saturday and entered them on the blotter for carrying concealed weapons. They were regarded as suspects in the Rosenheim shooting, but today — while Philadelphia still hold under lock and key Al Capone, the reputed lord of Chicago gangs and boss of McGurn himself—McGurn and Accardo went free under $1,000 bonds, asking a jury trial. The same charge earned Capone a year in a Philadelphia jail.

State's attorney John A. Swanson's reaction to the killings and bombings today was to summon Police Commissioner Russell and demand that gangsters once more be shipped out of town.

After his conference with Commissioner Russell, State's Attorney Swanson said he "understood" that a witness had positively identified Cada as one of the slayers of Rosenheim.

Sidelights Of Naval Parley

A British counter-proposal to the French plan for navy limitation has been circulated among the delegations to the five-power conference and will be submitted to Tuesday's plenary session.

Dividing warships into five classes instead of six, the British plan in accord with the French recognizes the ultimate necessity of fixing a total tonnage figure for each navy, but provides for transfer of tonnage between classes only from larger to smaller ships. No provision for transfer is made for battleships, aircraft carriers and submarines.

Cruisers, the focus of the American delegation's interest, are subdivided into cruisers with 8-inch guns and cruisers with 6-inch guns.

Tons and guns will be attacked by the delegates tomorrow. Their allotment among the navies will occupy delegates, experts and advisers for weeks to come.

No agreement on the actual percentage of tonnage transfers in either the British or the French plans is yet in sight. The delegates are counting on private conversations to settle this problem.

The delegates have practically abandoned the special agenda committee created last week and now favor of direct negotiations, a method advocated by the Americans since the beginning.

INWOOD FARMER KILLS HIMSELF

Worried Over Mortgage

Stammers came to Schoolcraft county about thirty-five years ago, taking employment with the Delta Lumbering company at Thompson. Later, he bought a tract of land on the Thunder lake road, which he cleared and transformed into one of the choicest farming properties in the county.

Worry over small financial matter is believed to have made him temporarily insane. He had substantial savings accounts in both Manistique banks, but he appeared to have been troubled lately over a $250 mortgage he held. Not being able to read or write, Stammers was under the impression that what he held was a first mortgage, but which was in fact a second mortgage. Several times during the past month, he had asked his housekeeper to read the mortgage contract for him, and after becoming convinced that it was not a first mortgage he became depressed.

Stammers is survived by two brothers, Fred of Pasadena, Cal., and John, who lives somewhere in the upper peninsula; and three sisters, Mrs. Anna Davis, Santa Monica, Cal., Mrs. Gustave Briggs, Ypsilanti; and Miss Minnie Stammers, Pasadena, Cal.

Funeral arrangements are not complete.

Bill Is Passed for Grand Rapids Cable

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—A senate bill to legalize a combined sewer and submarine cable under the Grand river near the pumping station on Market avenue at Grand Rapids, Mich., was passed today by the house of representatives and sent to President Hoover for his signature.

GETS MEDICAL PAROLE

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 3 (AP)—Arthur D. Wood, commissioner of pardons and paroles, today recommended a medical parole for Jay Schulters, of Flint, serving a term of 15 to 30 years in Jackson prison on a conviction of assault with intent to murder. Wood said the prisoner has an incurable disease. Schulter's father lives in St. Johns.

HUGHES GETS TAFT'S JOB AS CHIEF JUSTICE

Hagner of this city, at Asheville today, "and as he is not improving we feel that it would be safer to get him back to Washington."

The physician explained that the former president had decided to resign as chief justice "because we felt it would be safer for him to do so." Friends of Mr. Taft said that worries of the court were on the mind of the aged jurist and it was thought best to relieve him of those as quickly as might be.

Walks to Car

Although apparently very ill, Mr. Taft was able to walk from his automobile to the Pullman car on which he is coming home. He was assisted, however, by his physician and a nurse. He took hold of the railing and pulled himself up the steps, but it was plain that it was a great effort for him to do so.

The resignation of Mr. Taft was prepared at Asheville by the chief justice himself during the past few days and is a comparatively brief, legislistic document. He quoted the law governing the retirement of federal judges and pointed out that his combined service as circuit court judge and chief justice brought him within the act.

There was some question among certain senators as to whether such was the case, but at the White House it was stated that Mr. Taft automatically went to the judicial retired list with the acceptance of his resignation by the president.

The retirement of Mr. Taft removes from the official life of the nation one of the oustanding figures of the times. For more than quarter of a century he has been a part of the American government as president, secretary of war, the first governor general of the Philippines, temporary governor of Cuba and later as chief justice.

Appointed By Hughes

His successor is almost equally prominent in the life of the country. He has seen service before on the supreme court, having been appointed as associate justice in 1910 by the man whom he now succeeds as chief justice.

After six years of service, Mr. Hughes resigned to accept the presidential nomination of the Republican party only to be defeated by Woodrow Wilson in one of the closest presidential races of record.

While affable and genial among his friends, Mr. Hughes gives the appearance almost of austerity in public. His demeanor in presiding over the supreme court is expected to be in contrast to that of Mr. Taft, who took to the bench with him his infectious chuckle, his smile and his consistent good humor.

Taft Is Drawn

Many tedious legal arguments were punctuated by his humorous interjections and often his hearty laugh relieved the solemn atmosphere of the court room. However, with failing health which set in more than a year ago, Mr. Taft had a drawn look and in later months he even showed signs of irritation.

In December, against the advice of his physicians and his associates, he went to Cincinnati to attend the funeral of his brother, and upon his return here he began to fail more rapidly. He was taken to a hospital for the treatment of a bladder trouble and three weeks ago went to Asheville for a rest.

Despite his 64 years, Mr. Taft's general physical condition was good when he took up his duties as chief justice. Always a hearty eater, he satisfied his appetite without restraint, depending upon violent physical exercise to control in a measure his waistline.

Walked a Great Deal

Court demands on his time required him to abandon golf and horseback riding and compelled him to resort to vigorous walking to keep his weight down. Living about four miles from the capitol, where the court sits, he made it a practice to don heavy clothing and by fast walking over that distance throw himself into a perspiration.

After a bath and a massage at the capitol, he would don fresh clothing and go on the bench. Recently he yielded reluctantly to the advice of heart specialists attending him and abandoned all excessive exercise.

This required a readjustment of his food, and he was placed upon a rigid diet, consisting of toasted while wheat bread exclusively at breakfast and supper with dinner in the middle of the day when he was permitted meat and vegetables.

Visits Brother

When the supreme court ended its term in June, 1929, the chief justice, in a much run down condition, decided to visit his brother, Charles P. Taft, at Cincinnati, before going to his summer home at Murray Bay, Canada. The half brothers visited many places in Cincinnati which had been identified with the chief justice's early life in that city.

These efforts proved fatiguing. Mr. Taft returned here in an exhausted condition and submitted to hospital treatment before going to Murray Bay. The summer passed without and restorative effect, and his bad physical condition was irritated by an assident while riding in his automobile. Reluctantly he was obliged to abandon his annual birthday party.

The return of a bladder trouble further complicated his condition, but with all of the discouraging developments he remained steadfastly to his post, not missing a session of the court. Then Charles P. Taft died. Greatly depressed by the loss of a comrade as well as a brother, the chief justice insisted upon attending the funeral.

Returning here on last January 4, Mr. Taft, thoroughly depressed as well as disease-weakened, went directly to the capitol from the station to attend a conference of his colleagues. When he reached home, his condition was such that a physician was called to attend him. It was decided that he should enter a hospital at once, and when his condition permitted he was taken to Asheville.

Mother Accused Of Prisoning Daughter

Detroit, Feb. 3 (AP)—Judge Adolph F. Marschner Monday dismissed a habeas corpus action brought by Clarence Durnen, 28, who alleges that Miss Mildred Llewellyn, 18, with whom he attempted to elope three weeks ago, was being held a prisoner by her mother, Mrs. Anna Boyer. The girl told the court that she is not a prisoner but is afraid to go out for fear Durnen would kidnap her.

Air service between Paris and Turin, Italy, is proposed.

Schoolboy Injured While Ice Skating At Municipal Rink

William Little, son of Mrs. Harry Work, 614 South Ninth street, was seriously injured as the result of an accident at the municipal ice rink Sunday evening.

While he was skating on the ice, he accidentally slipped, tripping a boy in front of him. Both boys fell to the ice and the Little boy crashed faceward in the skates of his companion, Orville Arntzen.

His forehead was severely cut, the wound penetrating almost to the brain. He was immediately taken to a doctor who dressed the wound. Although unconscious a great deal of the time yesterday, he was reported to be in a restful condtion. He will not be able to attend school, however, for a long time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cashelette and children of Wausau, Wis., are visiting friends and relatives in this city.

CITY MANAGER GOV'T

ESCANABA citizens, who are thoroughly sold on the advantages of the city manager form of government over the old aldermanic system, need not allow the recent episode in Cleveland's city affairs to dampen their enthusiasm, according to a statement made by a spokesman for the National Municipal League.

Instead of sounding the death knell of city management in Cleveland, the dismissal of Manager William R. Hopkins and the appointment of State Senator Daniel Edgar Morgan in his place is expected to give it a new lease on life by paving the way for a city manager who will be less politically turbulent, and more administratively effective than the former executive.

The manager plan of government should not be confused with the personality of one man, it is pointed out.

"The fate which has overtaken Mr. Hopkins was as certain as death and taxes," writes Dr. H. W. Dodds, professor of politics at Princeton University and editor of the National Municipal Review, in the February issue of that magazine. "Mr. Hopkins is a man of high attainments and forceful personality, whose honest promoter's instincts led him outside the restricted field of operation and administration into the uncertain terrain of politics. He looked upon his office as that of a glorified mayor rather than as limited to the less dramatic duties of administration. The change may open a new era in the city's administration, under an executive who more fully understands the true nature of the manager's office."

Cleveland voters have expressed their confidence in the manager plan on four successive occasions, the most recent of these occurring last summer when the political machine tried to put across a charter amendment which would have resulted in a return to the old mayor-council form of government. The progressive element in Cleveland seems satisfied that manager government will be given a fair trial under the new administration. The new manager of Cleveland is a distinguished attorney and a former president of the citizens league. He has announced a policy of observing the principles of the city manager charter, but will confine his attention to administration and leave questions of policy to the council.

A SALUTE TO THE AUTO.

THIS is the season of the year when the automobile show burgeons and flowers. In city after city, from one coast to the other, halls are being filled with shiny, glittering new models, and prospective buyers are sauntering through to inspect them.

We haven't yet quite got used to our automobiles. The annual shows still thrill us. This, after all, is as it should be; the automobile has turned our whole civilization around, and it is no more than right that we should continue to make a big fuss over it.

The automobile began life, some three decades ago, as a toy. Then it became a luxury for the well-to-do man. And then, in no time at all, it became every man's necessity—and the end is not yet. This last stage has come within the last 20 years. It has worked an incredible change on us in that time, and it is still working. Probably it will be another 20 years before the ultimate effects of the automobile are fully apparent.

Twenty years ago America was famous as a country of bad roads. There was a sharp, clear dividing line, then, between the city dweller and the country dweller. The small town was isolated, the farm was often removed from the main currents of life as effectively as if it were enclosed behind the Chinese wall. Among ordinary people of limited means a trip of 10 miles was an event. Probably the majority of all native-born Americans had never been more than that far away from home in all their lives.

But now look at us!

From end to end the nation is criss-crossed by wide bands of concrete and macadam. A smooth gravel road that would have been bragged about in 1910 is apologized for now. The city dweller cannot be distinguished from the country dweller—not by his clothing, not by his speech, not by his familiarity with the fads, foibles and slang of the modern world. The small town losing its isolation, has moved in next to the suburbs. The farmer has forgotten his old imprisonment.

More than that—we have become a nation of rovers. From April to November the rubber-shod wheels of millions of Argonauts roll up and down the country's highways. The Nebraska farmer can talk to you about the beauties of New York's Lake region. The New England bank clerk can tell you how the fishing is in the streams of Michigan. The southern mechanic can describe the marvels of the Yellowstone.

Nor is that all. The city man is finding himself able to leave his cramped quarters close to the factory and find a place for out in the suburbs, where his children can have fresh air and trees and green grass. The joys of the open country are his, now. He is not tied to the immediate neighborhood of his job any longer.

Small wonder, then, that we make big events out of our auto shows! We ought to. The automobile belong on our national coat of arms. It has started us on a new and exciting pathway.

THE WAR AGAINST PREJUDICE.

FEW can be found to defend prejudice.

The nuisance of its narrowness is obvious, and hurling a stone of sarcasm at prejudice is always good for a round of ringing applause.

And yet we go gaily on with most of our actions dictated by sheer prejudice.

Why?

E. L. Clarke, in his Art of Straight Thinking, suggests five buttresses of prejudice that are worth identifying.

First, most of us do not realize that we are moved by prejudice. We can spot Prejudice in the seventeenth century. We can recognize bias in the life of the bolsheviki. We can see narrowness in our neighbors. But it is not easy to know when we are ourselves biased and blind in our own reactions.

Second, many men honestly believe that a certain amount of narrowness and prejudice is necessary to effectiveness. They think that to be objective, scientific, unbiased, impartial, impersonal makes a man a nerveless neutral in the social conflicts of his time.

Third, most men find that an attempt to divest themselves of prejudice brings discomfort in its wake. There is something soothing to them in the seeming safety of the dark-room of their dogmatism. The white light of disinterested truth is a bit blinding when they first face it. To free themselves of their prejudices may mean a strain on old friendships and a scrapping of many comfortable customs.

Fourth, our prejudices are rarely personal. They are part of the intellectual and social climate of the community in which we live. A thousand vested interests form the soil from which they have flowered. To break with our prejudices means a break with much that makes our community what it is. And most of us find it hard to break with our community.

Fifth, we have a kind of vested interest in our prejudices. We have said them so often that we should feel a bit foolish suddenly to renounce them. False pride holds us to positions we have long since ceased to believe in. Pride and prejudice play into each other's hands.

The fight for rationality calls for godlike patience.

It is foolish to think humanity will rush to the support of a thing just because it is proved reasonable and right.

Human nature is a complex thing!

This limitation of arms they are talking about doesn't extend to sorority and frat affairs, does it?

CHAPTER XXVI

The minute after she had spoken Judith felt uneasy. She thought (or was it imagination?) that Arthur's eyes, meeting hers in one swift instant, held reproof.

Silence came between them. Knight's gaze returned to his newspaper and Judith watched him covertly as she lay back among the divan's pillows.

"Arthur," she said presently, "tell me about today at the office. Did you get the Turner contract signed?"

"Not yet," came the answer. Arthur Knight did not lower the newspaper and he spoke as a man engrossed in important matters. He continued reading. Throughout the rest of that evening Knight's part in the conversation was nothing more than terse answering of questions.

Judith was uncomfortable. An open magazine lay in her lap. She looked down at it from time to time but the rows of type might as well have been invisible. Arthur had always reserved the hours following dinner for carefree, relaxed discussion of the day's events. He liked to hear how his wife had been spending the day, details of the household affairs which she had a way of turning into amusing anecdotes. He had confided plans and details of many a business venture, and because she had spent those months in the offices of the big firm, Judith was an understanding audience.

These hours together had seemed the best part of the day to Judith ever since coming to her new home. Tonight all this was changed.

Could Arthur possibly know?

Judith darted another glance toward the newspaper. That was all she could see of her husband—just a bit of dark hair protruding above the top of the evening newspaper.

No, she didn't think he could know about her chat with Andrew and she didn't think he could object if he did know. Just the same Judith felt guilty. The pink in her cheeks (which would come whenever she was agitated) showed this plainly.

"But it wasn't a lie—really!" she reassured herself. True, she had been at home all afternoon since returning from her luncheon engagement with Andy Craig. She tried repeatedly to convince herself that she had not been guilty of falsehood. Of course, after her plans worked out, she could tell Arthur the whole story. If she said anything now about Tony and Andy she was afraid Arthur would spoil it all.

She was very sure her plans were bound for success. Arthur's aloofness and his strange manner tonight were the first flaw.

Judith turned to the radio for entertainment, found that the merry quips of Broadway entertainers and mellow music of old operas were equally boresome. After nearly an hour of this she arose.

"I'm going upstairs, Arthur," she said. "Will you be coming soon?"

"After while."

It was after a considerable while that Arthur Knight cast aside the paper he had been reading. The fire in the grate was dying lower. Its soft blaze and the glow of the parchment-shaded lamp behind him were the room's only illumination.

For several minutes Knight watched the flames in the fireplace. Then he leaned back in his chair, closed his eyes and sat perfectly quiet. When his eyelids lifted the man's face was a perfect mask for his emotions.

He arose like a man thoroughly tired and went up the stairway.

In the morning Judith's fears were all forgotten. She and Arthur breakfasted together. He seemed, if anything, a little more affectionate than usual as he kissed her goodby and departed for the day.

She hummed a half-remembered tune happily as she went about the morning's routine. Great things were expected to take place this day. Andy Craig had promised to use his influence to bring Tony to reason and Judith relied implicitly upon Andy.

As she had for the past three days, Tony Knight took her breakfast and luncheon in her own room. Harriet carried the tray of covered dishes and dainty china up the stairway and they came down empty.

"Miss Tony seems to be feeling better today, ma'am," the maid said.

"Yes, I think she'll be much better soon," Judith said.

Even without Andy's connivance Judith was sure that Arthur Knight's rebellious young daughter would be tiring soon of her self-imposed seclusion and would seek companionship. Three days without her usual diversions must have been very, very trying to Tony.

At noon there came a telephone message for Judith.

"Hello," she answered eagerly. "This is Mrs. Knight."

"Judith? It's Andy. Well—I can't report much luck."

"What's happened?"

"Why, I telephoned half an hour ago. Tried to get Tony to promise to go somewhere with me tonight. Her answer wasn't exactly complimentary."

"But you know—"

"Yes, I know! Anyhow I told her I'd be around this evening about eight o'clock and expected her to change her mind."

"She will, Andy."

"Yes? Guess you mean maybe she will. Anyhow I'll drop in for a little while this evening."

"I'm sure she'll see you," Judith told him. "Thanks a lot for calling, too."

"Oh, don't mention it! How's the housekeeping?"

"Find!" the girl laughed. "Goodby, Andy."

"Goodby."

Without any real reason to explain the fact, Judith felt cheered.

The world was brighter—yes, seven times brighter!—when at four o'clock Arthur Knight arrived home.

Judith, finding the big house quiet and lonely, had curled up on a leather footstool before the living room fireplace. Her back was toward the hallway entrance of the room. Sandy, who had become almost a constant companion, sat before her, his shaggy little head resting in her lap, eyes lifted anxiously to the girl's.

Judith stroked the dog's head, thoughtlessly. She did not hear her husband enter the room, and his voice startled her.

"Hello!"

"Oh—why, Arthur! You're early!"

Sandy was ignominiously disregarded. Judith sprang to her feet and met Knight in the middle of the room. He was smiling and holding toward her a large round ivory box tied with violet ribbons.

"Yes, I ducked out a little ahead of schedule this afternoon. Here, thought you might like some posies."

"Oh, Arthur!"

Flowers for her. Flowers from her husband! Sandy, the dog, came nosing up to his mistress, doubtless wondering what in the world made her so excited and her cheeks pink, and why her eyes were suddenly so glamorous and starry since this man had come.

The violet ribbons dropped from the box. The lid came off and Judith lifted away the folds of tissue paper. From their sheltered depths she drew a corsage of violets.

"Arthur, they're beautiful. Oh, it was dear of you to bring them!"

"Like them, do you?"

"I love them. Arthur, they're just like—do you remember that other boquet?"

He nodded.

Then suddenly, still holding her bouquet of fragrant blossoms, Judith Knight sought refuge in her husband's arms, and hid her head on his tweed shoulder.

"But, darling, you mustn't! Why—why—!"

The girl raised her head. Tears still lingered in her eyes but she was smiling and she dabbed at the dewy lashes with a handkerchief.

"It's just—just because I'm happy, Arthur!"

Knight's arm went around her again, tender but also strong and comforting. Then he kissed her and Judith laughed uncertainly and admitted she was acting like a silly child and went to put the violets in water to keep them fresh.

* * *

When she returned she found Arthur Knight standing with his back toward her, gazing out one of the large windows.

She went up to him and put both hands on his shoulders. Knight turned.

"Judith," he said, "I'm afraid we haven't given you very much pleasure in this house."

"Please don't say that!"

"No" he continued, shaking his head, "we might as well face the truth. I'm beginning to feel old, Judith. Never realized it before. Old!"

"You're not old, Arthur. I won't have you saying such things. It isn't true!"

"Yes," he persisted. "It's true, all right . . . Judith"—he paused watching her intently—"are you sorry?"

"Sorry?"

"Are you sorry you married me?"

"Why of course not! What makes you talk like that? You've done everything to make me happy, Arthur. Sometimes when I suddenly think how much I have to thank you for, how much you've done for me, I feel I'm not half grateful enough."

He moved impatiently.

"But I don't want you to be grateful."

She laughed at him.

"All right then, Mr. Knight, I'm not grateful."

He refused to be cajoled out of his mood.

"There's one thing I want you to promise me," he went on, eyeing her seriously. "You've got to promise, Judith."

"What is it?"

"I want you to promise that if there's ever — anyone else—a younger man—you care about, you'll tell me."

The girl's face had paled. For an instant she hesitated. Then—"I promise," she said solemnly. "I promise, but there'll never be anyone else!"

The pause that followed seemed awkward. Sandy ended it. Evidently the dog concluded he had been ignored by these two persons quite long enough. He had jumped upon a chair beside Judith and now began to whimper piteously.

"Look, Arthur," the girl said, smiling through misted eyes, "your rival is jealous!"

She petted the dog's head and Sandy's wails subsided.

"Like the little beggar, don't you?" Knight asked, amused as he watched them.

"Sandy's a real friend."

Amiability and peace had descended upon the household. It remained for several hours. Arthur Knight chatted of the office and affairs in the city until it was time to dress. Judith reviewed her day, not neglecting to add that Tony had eaten heartily and appeared to be in improved spirits.

Very happily that evening Judith Knight dressed for dinner. She selected a printed chiffon of blue and lavender with bits of velvet ribbon as trimming. When the violets were pinned to her bodice their rich purple blended beautifully with the gown. She wore blue pumps the shade of the ribbon, and a crystal necklace. When she surveyed herself in the mirror the costume was as it should be but the radiance of her face was even more striking.

She wanted to appear lovely this evening. Judith touched Arthur Knight's flowers with tender fingers.

All through dinner the air of reconciliation and harmony prevailed. The dinner was a good one. Arthur Knight did it justice.

It was shortly after 8 o'clock when Knight and his attractive young wife were seated in the living room that Harriet appeared, announcing a visitor.

"Mr. Craig, ma'am," she said.

THEIR FATHER

The children still remember Dad,
They often speak about him.
The fun they had before they had,
Alas, to do without him.
They like to talk about it all,
They tell it rather quaintly,
And I myself can still recall
Their father, somewhat faintly.

But then, alas, the business grew,
Alas, we prospered greatly,
How much I never really knew,
I never knew, till lately.
It takes him off on many a trip,
He also realizes
The value of acquaintanceship
That ev'ryone advises.

He's chairman of so many things,
And joins so many others,
That ev'ry night and morning brings
Some duty to his brothers.
And there's his game, his game of golf,
So muscles will not soften.
Of course we see him on and off,
But off a lot more often.

I kept the children up till ten,
I made them rise at seven,
But he was up and gone again,
Or came home at eleven.
So now I have a better way
That saves a lot of bother:
I fetch his photograph, and say,
"See, children—that's your father."

AMERICAN TALKIES IN PARIS

Nineteen motion-picture theatres in Paris are now equipped with American sound and talking equipment. Of legitimate theatres, including the Moulin Rouge, the Olympia and the Theatre des Capneines, being converted into talkies, the last named will have American equipment. Several theatres in the provinces are being wired for sound pictures, and many others are expected to soon "go talkie."

MRS. H. REDMAN IS SUMMONED

Escanaba Resident Dies Sunday at Rochester Hospital

Mrs. H. W. Redman, 1215 Second avenue south, died at Rochester, Minn., early Sunday morning following an illness of two months. Mrs. Redman gave birth to a child in November and later was taken to Rochester, where she entered the Mayo clinic. Her case baffled the physicians and for several weeks her condition was critical. Last week she seemed to be slightly improved and Mr. Redman wrote to friends here that he hoped to take her home in ten days. She took a sudden turn for the worse late Saturday and passed away Sunday morning.

Mrs. Redman was 28 years of age, and is survived by her husband, a baby two months old, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Miller, Eagle Grove, Iowa; one sister, Mrs. Leonard Johnson of Chicago. Members of her family were at the bedside when the end came.

Mrs. Redman was a member of the Chicago and North Western Woman's club and although she had lived here only a short time had won the friendship of a large circle of friends.

The body was shipped to Kaukauna, Wis., the former home of the family, where funeral services will be held at the Catholic church Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. Burial will be in the Kaukauna cemetery.

Mr. Redman, who is employed as assistant storekeeper for the Chicago and North Western in this city, was with his wife at Rochester for the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Walter of this city will attend the funeral at Kaukauna.

Upper Peninsula Teachers to Meet October 2, 3 and 4

The annual convention of upper peninsula teachers, which was held in Escanaba last October, will be held in 1930 at Marquette on October 2, 3 and 4, according to a schedule received from E. T. Cameron, executive secretary of the Michigan Education association.

The largest of the nine gatherings is the District One meeting in Detroit, which is attended by nearly ten thousand teachers in Wayne county. The Flint and Grand Rapids meetings are attended by more than 4,000, and the upper peninsula district conference attracts more than two thousand.

The Michigan Education association is the professional organization of teachers and school executives in Michigan. It was formerly known as the Michigan State Teachers association. The October meetings are informational and inspirational programs for which speakers of national reputation are provided, combined with discussion groups for the interchange of ideas among members of the association.

"I WISH I COULD TELL EVERYBODY ABOUT KONJOLA"

Michigan Lady Tells How Her New Medicine Put Speedy End to Her Suffering.

MRS. C. SEAMAN

"I suffered terribly from stomach and kidney ailments," said Mrs. C. Seaman, 419 Webber street, Saginaw. "The simplest of foods caused gases to form in my stomach. I bloated and belched and the pain and discomfort was almost unbearable. I was bothered with shortness of breath and frequent dizzy spells. My kidneys weakened and my back pained me frightfully. I finally went to bed thoroughly ill and discouraged, and remained helpless for a long time.

"It is amazing, but three bottles of Konjola actually helped me so much that I was almost myself again. I no longer bloat after eating, and I can eat what I wish. Pains from the kidney and stomach weakness have disappeared, and I sleep well. I wish I could tell everyone about Konjola."

Konjola is sold in Escanaba at People's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

"DISRAELI" AT DELFT THEATRE

George Arliss Is Playing Feature Role in "Talkie" Film

George Arliss is coming to the Delft Theatre today for a 3-day run in the Vitaphone version of one of his greatest stage successes, "Disraeli," which was produced with great care and under the expert supervision of several noted historians. It is a picture of dramatic power and has been listed as one of the finest products of the talking screen.

The story deals with one of the most exciting and melodramatic episodes of Disraeli's career. This great statesman had the eyes of the world on him when he succeeded in acquiring the Suez Canal for England. And it is around this particular bit of political sagacity that the story of the picture "Disraeli" is woven.

Benjamin Disraeli was the first Jew to achieve the honor of becoming Prime Minister of England. This was in 1868, just thirty-one years after he made his first speech in the House of Commons. The young Disraeli, fantastically garbed, melancholy of mien, and with a mass of curls on his fine head, delivered that maiden speech with extravagant gestures and was greeted with derision.

Between that disastrous speech and the signal honor paid him in giving him the post of Prime Minister, lay three decades of strenuously practical political life. He wandered up and down London, a kind of unsolved riddle. There was a pose of mystery behind him. He was fascinating, without a peer in the art of repartee, a contradiction of everything the traditionalEnglishman expected as a leader of politics. And he still remains one of England's greatest statesmen.

Surely the role of "Disraeli," is a spendid one for the artful George Arliss. His portrayal of this character is a distinguished one.

AT THE STRAND.

"Domestic Meddlers," the Tiffany-Stahl comedy drama starring Claire Windsor which has been attracting such enthusiastic comments at the Strand Theatre, will be shown there for the last time today.

Lawrence Gray, playing opposite Claire Windsor, and Roy D'Arcy and Jed Prouty complete the cast. D'Arcy contributes one of his most finished interpretations of a philandering man-about-town, in superb contrast to Lawrence Gray's attractive, wholesome characterization of an American husband. Wellyn Totman wrote the story and James Flood directed the picture.

Typify Seasons At Fellowship Supper

Members of the Presbyterian church are pleased with the success of their "fellowship suppers" which have been having an average attendance of about 100 people. For this Wednesday evening, it is planned to have the four tables typify the four seasons, and the following ladies will be in charge of each table: Mrs. John Friedenberg, spring; Mrs. O. N. Mickelson, autumn; Mrs. May Oliver, summer; Mrs. James Davidson, winter. Reservations may be secured at any desired table by calling one of the above. The usual 15 minute devotional will follow the supper, and there will be a short address by the pastor.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper figure, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Splendid Talk Delivered at Rotary Club Luncheon

One of the finest talks heard at Rotary in some time was that given at Monday noon's luncheon by Rev. Thomas Foster, of St. Stephens' Episcopal church, Escanaba, and Trinity Episcopal church, Gladstone.

The pastor, speaking on "What Is a Man Worth?" was a keen discourse on the proper values to be placed on creative powers.

Rev. Mr. Foster was introduced by E. A. Erickson, chairman of the program.

His talk in part, follows:

"There is an old catechism definition of the chief end of man in the world: "The chief end of man is to glorify God, and enjoy Him forever," he said in opening his talk. "Today the usual idea is entirely different: 'The chief end of man is to get wealth and pass it on to his decendants, to have and to hold for ever.' The guiding star of conduct as portrayed in modern literature is the idea that a man's life consists in the abundance of the things he possesses. When a man dies the first question usually asked is: 'What did he leave?' or 'What was he worth?' The question is a legitimate one, but the implication is faulty. The real worth of a man can never be measured by the material possessions and wealth he may have acquired.

"It is not my purpose to take sides with those who argue against wealth, or the acquiring of possessions," he continued. "Neither do I intend to side with those who are silent in the presence of social and industrial injustice caused by selfish and greedy ambition for wealth and power.

"The question confronting us is more pressing than ever before. By what values shall a man be governed in his endeavors after material possessions? How shall these values influence his endeavors after material security and abundance? What are the values that determine the real worth of a man?

Attitude Changes

"Attitudes toward accumulation of wealth change according to social and economic conditions of the individual. They range from a complete denial of the legitimacy of wealth as manifested in the radical elements to the get rich by any means, honest or otherwise, so long as you keep within certain bounds; then salve your conscience by great gifts to philanthropy before you die.

"The most radical idea that 'property is theft.' Of course this idea is held by those who have nothing, and who reserve the right to change their opinions when fortune smiles upon them and their own circumstances change.

"Another idea is that 'property is a natural right,' " he said, "this view of course held by the property holder. Then we have the idea of religion expressed in the word stewardship, namely, Property is something God permits a man to use for a certain time and a certain purpose. An old world idea which is perhaps very much out of date is that "Property is a sign of God's favor." God always prospers the righteous man, and the man who is not prosperous is therefore not rightious and out of favor with God.

"There is also a legal definition: "Property is the exclusive control by some person of some person or thing." The legal limits of exclusive control may be broadly defined. We are not going into that side of the question. We admit the legal right of a man to do as he will with his exclusive property. He may have carloads of food stored away and refuses to distribute it for economic reasons while thousands are starving. He may have a legal right to do this; but there is a moral right which transcends the legal right. The moral right is the right to acquire possessions or to hoard possessions without inflicting social injustice or personal injury upon others. The moral right to acquire and to exclusive right depends upon the social consequences.

"Therefore the real values of life are creative values. In answer to our question, "What Is a Man Worth?" is the second question, "What of creative value has he produced?"

Man a Creator

"Man is a born creator, when he seeks to create things of value to human life and progress he diverts the most natural instincts of his life. There is a creative spirit in human life which stirs men to endeavor for the public good. Perhaps this idea is best described in a work of Rodin the French sculptor. It is called the Hand of God. It is just a slab of marble about two feet across, remaining roughly unfinished except for the exquistely carved portion of the back of a man's hand supporting two human figures. The hand is not that of an administrator, with short fingers. Nor is it the hand of a teacher, with long, pointing index fingers. It is the hand of an artist with sensitive, tapering fingers.

"The artist hand holding two human figures, chiseled in rough marble represents God as a creative artist. God has not yet finished His creation. The world, like the uncut stone, is in process of creation. 'We are in the making still. The creative Hand of God works through the medium of mankind. Man is the instrument in the hand of Divine creative energy. The genuine of invention, the power of commerce, the broadening influence of education and culture; these are the medium of the Creative Force of God at work in the world. This work has been going on from the beginning of time. From the embryonic stages of life, through various phases of development, the progress of the world has been toward the finished creation.

"The Divine Creator works through the creative spirit in man I am not so much concerned with the question of the age of the world, or how it was made. Wether the world was created in six days, or six million yars is not the most vital question. Those who say that God made, and is still making the world must remember that He is expressed in it. God is expressed i nthe world. He is creating by man's use of what has already been created, and by the way the resources of the universe are used. What is the nature of the God revealed in the universe which man is utilizing? Is it a God who is expressed in selfish greed for power which breaks and enslaves the lives of others? Or is it a God expressed in creative values for the common good, the creative values of benevolence, charity, social and economic justice, and fair-dealing?

"The natural tendency of human life is to create something of contributive value to life. Creative worth brings keener enjoyment than possessions. The real motive of life in any sphere is to contribute something of value to the world. It is cetarive rather than possessive.

"Service Above Self"

"It is true that in this machine age the ideal of "service above self" is regarded with scepticism. It seems to be the irony of fate that creative service often goes unrecognized. Many have passed from this world unheeded, unacclaimed, never realizing the glory of their own achievement. There is the story of David D. Buick, a man whose name is known throughout the world. The man is forgotten. His inventive genius has meant much for business and personal progress, but he died at the age of seventy four, as an instructor in the Detroit School of Trades. Others have reaped the profits of the creative work of Buick, and yet we may well envy such a man, who is "Lord of himself, though not of lands, and having nothing yet hath all."

"After all 'service above self' is a practical maxim. Behind this maxim is the idea of creative worth and ability. It recognizes the fact that there is a purpose in life—a purpose which is wider and bigger than self-interest.

"The problem of industry is not so much an economic problem as it is a spiritual problem. Man is a born creator. A machine age tends to destroy the creative ability in man. A machine age produces mechanical process of thinking. Man, made in the image of the Divine Creator is reduced to the standard of an automaton, a number in a factory. His purchasing value is a prescribed number of muscular notions. The revolts is against mechanical processes of thinking. The Creative spirit seeks an outlet, an opportunity of expression.

"What is needed now is a new ideal," he said in concluding, "the ideal of creative value which places emphasis upon production rather than possession. We need the ideal of the universal design working toward a completed creation. Every man in his sphere of life is an agent of the Divine Creative Artist.

"A man's creative work should be judged by its distributive value. When a man makes things for the use of others, the expression of his personality is determined by the extent and manner of their use. Whether a man produces economic goods, professional sevices, scientific discoveries, moral or esthetic values, his personality grows in creative power only as others use, appreciate, or extend that which he has created."

Charles Thompson, of Escanaba, of the Thompson Baking Co., was a guest at the Rotary luncheon.

SERVICE IS IMPRESSIVE

Rev. Carl E. Berger in Charge; Masons Attend in Body

The splendid service, held Sunday evening at Westminster Presbyterian church with Rev. Carl E. Berger of the First Presbyterian church, Escanaba, in charge, was largely attended.

Members of Gladstone lodge, Number 396, F. & A. M., attended the services in a body, meeting at the Masonic Temple at 7 o'clock and marching to the church.

Members of Minnewasca Chapter, Number 96, Order of the Eastern Star, also attended in a body, meeting at the church at 7:15 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Berger's sermon on "Modern Morality," was a comprehensive study of trend of the modern day in regard to its moral codes, showing a deep insight into the subject.

In his introduction, the speaker called attention to the fact that the setting up of standards of right and wrong is of universal interest.

"The new disposition," he said, "is to question all old standards," and he went on to point out that every old moral code has been discredited, ascribing as reasons for this: the lack of confidence in their being supernaturally issued because of comparison with other standards and because things are scientifically explained today which could not be done years ago; the lack of respect for sovereignty; and the fact that moral codes are made of customs and that anything old must be replaced by something new.

Continuing, Mr. Berger took the positive side, the constructive phase of the moral code, stating that while there is the destructive or negative phase, there is also the constructive, which is primarily in the direction of wider social application.

"Our social conscience is more tender than that of our individual conscience," he declared, "For instance, in the application of the Golden Rule, we are using more intelligence in seeking the real neds of others. The commandment, 'Thou Shalt Not Kill' is being given a wider interpretation in a conference being held in London today. The term justice does not mean that we shall wait for evidence but that we should go out and find evidence. An old business slogan, 'The public be damined' has been changed to 'The public be pleased.' "

Returning to the problem of setting up the individual moral standard. Mr. Berger said: "Let us be guided by this principle, 'What will be the best for man? —Man is the measure of all measure of all things."

"In this connection," he explained, "the moral code is meant to satisfy the whole of man, and not some one sense. Man's occupations and endeavors must give lasting happiness and not pleasure only.

Enlarge Old Codes

"When we come to make this application," he continued, "we will find that the old moral codes as found in the Bible are not too small but must be enlarged upon. Christ said, 'Except your righteousness exceed, it is not worthy.'

"Our modern civilization," he said, in conclusion, "thus demands a higher moral code, and particularly so, because we live a more closely inter-dependent life."

Special music at the service included two numbers: "I am listening" and 'They Know His Voice," by the Masonic quartet, Noble Swenson, Einar Olson, Walter Olson and Ewald A. Erickson, and hymns by Westminster Presbyterian choir.

FIRE DESTROYS BARBER SHOP

Alguire Slightly Burned In Attempt to Fight Blaze

Fire destroyed the A. D. Alguire barber shop, 919 Delta avenue, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, causing a loss of a couple thousand dollars. The loss is covered by insurance.

The fire had an odd origin. John Sepic, barber employed by Mr. Alguire, struck a match on the top of the heater stove, and the head of the match accidently fell on the floor. Some kerosene had been spilled on the floor, near the stove, earlier in the day, which was ignited by the flaming match.

Contents Lost

Mr. Alguire was slightly burned about the face in attempting to put out the fire. The blaze spread rapidly, and by the time the firemen arrived the building was enveloped in flames. The frame building, was erected by Clayton Voorhis, pioneer business man of Gladstone, more than thirty years ago.

All the contents of the building were lost. One customer, who was in a chair when the fire broke out ,was forced to leave his tonsorial job only half done.

Mrs. E. A. Schwahn left Monday for Oshkosh where she will spend a few days with relatives.

Miss Mildred Cole is ill at her home, 511 Montana avenue.

KINGS HERALDS MEETING WITH MRS. RODGERS

The Kings Heralds of the First Methodist Episcopal Memorial church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Mrs. R. J. Rogers at her home.

"HOLLYWOOD REVUE" OPENS ON WEDNESDAY

New songs, new dances by stars of screen and stage, lots of 'gags' and abundant laughs, tuneful melodies and sparkling dialogue—and don't forget the girls.

"The Hollywood Revue," a huge musical spectacle staged and screened by Metro-Goldyn-Mayer, which will have its first showing in Gladstone at the Rialto theatre, has them all. It has everything.

It is a radical departure from the motion pictures to which we have become accustomed, even in th's talkies epoch.

It is a revue, a huge vaudeville show for young and old alike, staged with gorgeous settings, 20 musical numbers, a huge dancing chorus and a galaxy of stars in the greatest cast ever assembled for one motion picture.

Marian Davies appears as a singer and dancer in a highly amusing sketch called "Tommy Atkins on Parade." Who knew before that she is an expert tap dancer? But she is, rivaling the best that the musical comedy stage has to offer. She is supported by a male chorus of six footers.

John Gilbert and Norma Shearer are also on the bill. They do a romantic bit from Shakespeare and then jazz it up to modern tempo.

Bessie Love appears in her own singing and dancing act—as Bessie Love. One of the hit songs of the show is hers. It couldn't be anything but a hit when Bessie sings it.

Conrad Nagel makes his screen singing debut and is the interlocutor of a minstrel number.

William Haines makes you laugh with one of those "gags" for which he is famous.

Buster Keaton, frozen faced comedian, appears before the sound camera and microphone for the first time, and does an Egyptian snake dance. It's immense.

Karl Dane and George K. Arthur are there with one of their "gags."

Joan Crawford croons a song in a heart-tugging manner and dances as only Joan Crawford can.

That COLD

Colds come suddenly. You can often end them just as quickly! Take Bayer Aspirin the moment you've caught one. A single sneeze should be the signal, or the first sign of congestion or headache, or soreness. Exposure to cold and wet isn't half so serious when you've learned to protect yourself with Bayer Aspirin. For the speedy relief of colds, headaches, neuralgic or neuritic pain, and even the acute suffering caused by rheumatism, there is nothing so sure and so safe as genuine Aspirin tablets stamped Bayer. They make a marvelous gargle, too. See proven directions in every package.

RESPONDS TO CALL

The Munising fire department was called out Sunday evening at 7:30 to distiinguish a blaze at Joseph Jaspers residence on East Superior street. The fire was checked so that no damage of mention was caused. It had started from a cigarette that had caught one of the curtains on fire.

BENEFIT DANCE

The Young Ladies Sodality club is sponsoring a benefit dance at the Sacred Heart school auditorium Wednesday evening. The Legionnaires will furnish the music and a good time is assured to all who attend.

Penalties Paid by Violators in 1929 Total Near $90,000

Lansing, Feb. .—During the year 1929 a total or 3,792 conservation law violators paid fines and costs aggregating $89,165.58, according to figures compiled by the law enforcement division of the department of conservation.

The average penalty inflicted on game, furs and fish law violators was $23.51.

The smallest number of violators for one month was in January when 147 convictions were reported. The largest number of violations occurred in November with 691 convictions reported.

Some successful men take advantage not only of their own opportunities but everybody else's.

CLOSED SEASON CUTS POACHING

Muskrat Trapping Provided Most Violations in December

Lansing, Feb. .—Closing of most of the hunting seasons for the year brought a sharp drop in the number of convictions reported by the law enforcement division of the department of conservation for the month of December, 1929.

Throughout the state there were 211 convictions for violations of conservation laws last month as compared with 691 convictions during November which included the deer season.

Total fines and costs paid by violators during December was $4,985.85, or an average of $23.63 for each conviction. Violators served jail sentences aggregating 305 days.

Almost half of the total violations were for irregularities of the muskrat trapping laws, the law enforcement division report shows. Of the 211 convictions, 95 had to do with muskrat trapping. Of the 95 convictions 30 were for having improper or no metal tags on muskrat traps and 27 were for trapping at or too near muskrat houses or holes.

Killed Pheasant—Jailed

Four men were convicted of illegal use of a ferret and their fines ranged from $19.35 to $46 each.

Fines reaching as high as $60 were imposed on four men convicted of swearing falsely to secure game and trapping licenses. The lowest fine imposed for the offense was $15.

Two men convicted of dynamiting fish were fined $35 each and one man, in Montmorency county, convicted of dynamiting a beaver house paid a fine and costs of $31.15 and served five days in jail.

Sentences of 30 days each were served by three men in St. Joseph county, convicted of trapping without licenses.

The longest jail sentence served was in Tuscola county for killing a female pheasant, and the heaviest fine was $80.75 and a confiscated automobile for transporting a deer out of season in Schoolcraft county.

GUN CLUB TO MEET TONIGHT

Sportsmen Will Hold Annual Election of Officers

An enthusiastic gathering is expected to attend the special meeting of the Manistique Gun Club and Sportsmen's association at the fire hall this evening, when the annual election of officers will be held and several matters of importance discussed.

At the last session the status of trout streams in the county was discussed and a recommendation made to the department of conservation that all streams, with the exception of a specified list, be opened during 1930. A reply from the department, noted willingness to incorporate the recommendation of the club in the 1930 digest as far as possible, but asked that the regulation be redrafted designating all streams which are to be opened.

This has been the consistent policy of the department. Opening of all streams with the exception of a prescribed number, would throw open every smal stream in the county, and the majority of which are unnamed and unmapped. Most of these streams are feeders, where protection is particularly desired. For this reason each stream to be opened must be designated.

Should the department comply fully the recommendations of the local club the following streams will be open this year during the regular season: Parra creek, Dead Horse creek, Orr creek, Marblehead creek, to Soo Line track, Milakokia creek to Soo Line track, Big Murphy river, Little Indian river to south line of section 33, Carr creek, Sturgeon Hole creek to M94, Scotts creek, Stutts creek to M. & L. S. tracks, Fenton and Dube creeks to M. & L. S. tracks, West Branch of Manistique river south from D. S. S. & A. tracks, east branch of the west branch of Manistique river, Driggs river, Big Fox river, Little Fox river south of section 11, west branch of Fox river south of section 9, east branch of the Manistique river south of section 8, Bursaw and Johnson creeks, snyder creek to Soo Line tracks, Big Indian river, Bear creek, Brace creek and Hickey creek.

Four 'pike lakes,' McDonald, Gulliver, and Bosworth (Billy Beyers lake) were also recommended for opening prior to June 15.

Mrs. Shinar Will Give Club Address

The "Little Theatre" is the subject Mrs. W. J. Shinar will discuss at the meeting of the Women's Club this afternoon at the Elk's Temple. Two one act plays written by upper peninsula women will be presented under the direction of Mrs. T. Mulrooney. Hostesses for the afternoon are, Mrs. S. M. Winn, Mrs. W. Bolitho, Mrs. A. F. Hall, Mrs. John Falk, Mrs. Harry Adams and Miss Mary McLellan.

Sergeant Keune Denies He Will Be Game Warden

A report that Sergeant Fred Keune of the Michigan state police had been appointed district conservation warden to succeed Julius Thorsen was denied by Keune yesterday.

Rumors of the appointment gained wide circulation in Manistique during the past week.

Golden Stars Plan Dance On Friday

Plans are being completed for the dancing party to be given by the Golden Star lodge Friday evening at the Odd Fellows hall. A regular business session will precede the dance. Refreshments will be served. All members and their friends are invited to attend.

Monument An Enigma

Efforts are being made to solve the identity of an ancient monument near the ruined city of Baalbeck, Syria. Built to commemorate some event, now forgotten, it stands 60 feet high, and on its sides are sculptured hunting scenes and hunting regalia. Its origin, its age and its builders are unknown.

CITY BRIEFS

Mrs. Dan Garrett and son Robert John returned Saturday from Milwaukee where they visited Captain Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brotherton, Jr., have returned to their home on Cedar street after spending the week-end at the H. O. Brotherton home in Escanaba.

Miss Ottilia Schuster has returned to Chicago after spending the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Schuster. Miss Schuster is an instructor in the Providence High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenks spent the week-end visiting friends in the Soo.

Alec Creighton is confined to his home with an attack of mumps.

Dr. and Mrs. Rutledge, Rogers City, spent the week-end at the V. I. Hixon home.

Mr. Gordon Hughes left Sunday for points in lower Michigan on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gero, Jr. left yesterday for Milwaukee and Chicago on a business trip.

THEATRES

GERO.

Although Belle Baker, the star of "Song of Love," the Columbia musical drama now playing at Gero Theatre, never set foot on the professional stage outside the United States, she is known from one end of Europe to the other. The following incident publicized her talent.

In 1925 Miss Baker and her husband visited Paris on a pleasure trip. They dined one evening at Harry Pilcer's famous Accacios Club, a rendezous for celebrities from all over the world. Among the guests on this occasion were many distinguished New Yorkers. Someone espied Miss Baker and asked her to sing.

The New Yorkers were so insistent that Miss Baker was forced to consent. She sang several songs and received a tremendous ovation. Miss Baker returned to her hotel thinking the incident was over. To her surprise she discovered that Paris had spread the news of her success to theatrical centers all over Europe. The result was that the American star was besieged with cablegrams begging her to appear in other cities on the continent. Unfortunately she had to return to America to fulfil contracts with American producers.

Although Miss Baker would like to appear on the continent, she has been kept so busy by her American public that she has found no time to leave the country.

Presbyterian Guild to Meet This Evening

Regular meeting of the Presbyterian Guild will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. W. F. Kefauver, Range street. Hostesses are Helen Hulbert and Leona Strong. All members are asked to be present.

ST. JOE NEXT FOE OF QUINT

Last Home Game of Season for High Friday Night

Basketball fans of this city will have their last opportunity to watch Manistique High school's undefeated basketball quintet in action on the home floor, Friday evening when St. Joseph's High of Escanaba will play a return game here. Three other games remaining on the schedule, against Gladstone, Sault Ste. Marie and Baraga (Marquette) will all be played away from home.

A monster crowd is expected to watch Kelly's classy aggregation of basket tossers when they take the floor against the Parochials. Without doubt the present team is the best to represent the Green and White in recent years. With a string of eight straight victories to their credit they will face the Parochials determined to run their string to nine.

The game Friday will be the sixth Cloverland Conference contest for the locals, but regardless of the outcome will have no bearing on the title, the Kellys cinching it Saturday night when they humbled Baraga, 24-10. This was the first title win for Manistique since entering the conference.

START TICKET SALE FOR PLAY "STRAY CATS"

Tickets for "Stray Cats", the home talent production to be presented at the Gero Theatre, February 27, under the auspices of the W. O. W. band, have been placed on sale.

Two performances of the three act, farcical comedy will be given, a matinee in the afternoon for children and a presentation for adults in the evening. Seats for the evening performance only, will be reserved.

Rehearsals are being held regularly and according to predictions, the play will be one of the funniest to be presented by the local band.

Band members who have not received their quota of tickets are asked to see C. E. Leonard at Hackenbrach's barber shop, immediately.

"Each cough hurt ME more than it hurt Johnny"

"My elder sister's boy was staying with us for the Christmas vacation. So when he caught a cough I felt doubly anxious. I just had to make him well again. I immediately gave him some Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup which I myself used before. It worked as well with Johnny as it did with me—better! And Johnny actually liked the syrup—he said 'It's like candy'. He lost his cold completely in a couple of days." MRS. SAM COUZENS, New York City.

Mother! Do You Know the Danger of A Cough from Colds?

Mother, if the youngsters play hard and "take cold," if for any of a dozen other reasons they get "sick with a cold," stop it as fast as you can. Don't let it hang on. Colds that stay and stay, too often weaken the system and lead into some serious sickness.

If any of your youngsters develop a cough from a cold that hangs on, use sensible precautions immediately and give them Creomulsion. Help their strong, youthful bodies to fight coughs from colds with Creomulsion. It is pleasant, easy to take.

Creomulsion is an old remedy now. Millions know its merits and like it. We guarantee that it will relieve coughs from colds, or we'll refund your money.

Dragoons Will Face Legion On Court Wednesday

Legion basketball fans will be given a treat Wednesday evening when the fast Munising Dragoons invade the local gym as the second opponents of the local Legionnaire quintet.

The Munising team is rated as one of the strongest independent aggregations in this section of the peninsula. They have a long string of victories to their credit and will furnish some real competition for the Legion. In two of their latest games they have taken a decision over the Rapid River quint and dropped a fast, rough game to the Nahma Independents, both by narrow margins.

The locals in their initial contest against the Wolverines of Escanaba, proved to have a smooth, fast offense and an impregnable defense. Stiff practice sessions and scrimmages have been the order of the week and a vastly improved machine will likely be seen against the Dragoons.

A large crowd of fans is expected to view the contest.

Mr. L. F. Crosby who submitted to a serious operation at a local hospital recently is reported to be improving as well as can be expected.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Efforts to extend the recovery of stock prices today were frustrated by a sharp break in the commodities markets. Operators for the advance succeeded in marking up a long list of issues 1 to 6 points in the early trading, but the break in wheat and corn apparently stimulated the liquidation of stocks by middle western speculators, who sought to protect margins in the grain markets, with the result that stocks turned lower in the last hour of trading.

Most of the early gains were cut down, or wiped out, and a long list of issues closed with net declines of 1 to 8 points. Total sales, which fell just short of 3,800,000 shares, set a new high record for the year.

Wheat Prices Drop

Wheat dropped 4 cents or more a bushel to new low levels for the season on selling influenced by continued heavy offerings of the French and Russian products in Europe, unfavorable export statistics and a denial of reports that the department of agriculture had predicted higher prices later in the year. The March option sold down to $1.13 a bushel. Corn sagged more than a cent a bushel on reports of an increase in the visible supply. Cotton dropped $2 to $2.50 a bale also to new low levels, in sympathy with an earlier break in Liverpool.

Rails offered the best resistance to selling pressure, the index of 20 leading issues in that group setting a new high level for the year. In view of the sharp advance in prices last week, the reaction in the public utilities and industrials was regarded largely as in the nature of a technical correction.

U. S. Steel Rises

The bullish effect of a further upturn in steel operations was tempered somewhat by the fact that prices have been on the downgrade, and are lower than they were a year ago. U. S. Steel common touched a new high on the current recovery at 185, dropped to 181½, and closed at 182 for a net loss of 2½ points.

A brisk flurry on buying developed in the copper shares on reports of a sharp expansion in the operations of fabricating plants, although buying of the red metal continued quiet. Producers expect a sharp pick-up in the foreign demand in the next few weeks and believe this may also stimulate a demand from domestic consumers, who have been pursuing a "hand to mouth" buying policy in the belief that the price would be cut below 18 cents a pound. Gains of 1 to 3 points in the active copper shares were cut down when the general market turned heavy.

Call Money Steady

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent all day, with the supply of funds nominal, although the return flow of February 1 dividend and interest payments to the banks is expected to bring about a lowering of the rate later in the week. Time money was quoted at 4¾ to 5 instead of 4½ to 4¾ per cent. Prime commercial paper and bankers' acceptance rates were unchanged.

The New York Stock Exchange reported a decline of $4,742,208 in member loans last month, one of the smallest changes on record, bringing the total down to $3,984,768,065, which contrasts with a total of $6,735,164,242 on January 31, 1929, and the record-breaking total of $8,549,283,979 on September 30, last.

Establishment of new low levels for the year by the British, French and Argentine currencies featured the lower foreign exchange market. Sterling cables were quoted around $4.86 3-8.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Feb. 3—Tumbling headlong downward almost 5 cents a bushel today, wheat future delivery contracts broke the season's low-price record. Selling out on a big scale to stop holders' losses resulted from complete failure of the market to maintain advances, nothwithstanding action of the federal farm board in appointing an advisory wheat committee. Conspicuous absence of export demand today for wheat from North America had also a decided unsettling effect, emphasized by acute weakness of Winnipeg and Liverpool quotations and by a large increase of the amount of wheat afloat for Europe.

Chicago closing prices for wheat were nervous at 3 7-8 to 4½ at 4 5-8c a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1 1-8 to 1 5-8c down, with oats 5-8 at 3-4 to 1c off, but provisions showing 10 to 20c gain.

Adding to selling pressure in the Chicago wheat market today were dispatches telling of British import purchases from Russia at figures apparently cheaper than were asked for wheat from Argentina or North America. Far outweighing such factors, however, was the circumstance that a majority of Chicago wheat traders appeared to regard as bearish instead of bullish the farm board's efforts to stabilize values.

Corn and oats values went downgrade mainly as a result of the semi-demoralization of the wheat market.

Provisions rose because the monthly report of warehouse stocks of lard showed a gain of only 2,000,000 pounds against 29,000,000 pounds gained at this time last.

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Foreign bonds furnished the feature in today's market. Net changes in this group were well mixed, but there was considerable activity, especially in the French listings. That government's 7½s made a new high at 121¼ on a turnover of $235,000, principal amount. The 7s also moved higher.

Other important changes included losses of more than 3 points in Colombian Agricultural 6s of 1947 and Colombian Mortgage Bank 7s. Belgian 8s eased nearly a point, but the 6½s sold up to 109 for a net advance of 7-8. Denmark 6s, Budapest 6s, Italy 7s, several of the French municipals, Upigawa Electric Power 7s, Rio de Janeiro 6½s, Australian 4½s and Brazil 8s were other popular issues, although advances held to fractions.

Firmer time money, which was quoted at 4¾ to 5 per cent for all maturities, served to restrict interest in the domestic corporation bonds, which were again irregular. United States governments gained ground in the late trading after early easiness, the Treasury 4s and 4¼s rising 3-8.

Rails were irregular.

Communication convertibles sold off sharply. American Telephone 4½s declined 3½ points to 146½, closing at 147 for a net loss of 3, while International Telephone 4½s dropped 4¼, losing most of the gain they had made late last week.

Utility company bonds of standard descriptions were mixed. American Telephone 5s of 1965 held very firm, but easing tendencies prevailed in Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Duquesne Light 4½s, Southwestern Bell Telephone 5s and International Telephone Debenture 4½s. The last name yielded a full point.

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—January shipments and bookings of the American Brass company and the Anaconda Wire & Cable company, fabricating subsidiaries of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, were 80 per cent of the average rate for 1929, which was a record year. Sales by Cooper Exporters, Inc., last month were 75 per cent of the 1929 average. Buying of the metal for domestic account is said to be more substantial than a few weeks ago, and a better February volume is expected.

Class one railroads had 438,195 surplus freight cars in repair on January 23, a decrease of 24,426 cars from the January 15 total.

Two more blast furnaces were fired in the Chicago district late last week. The United States Steel Corp. now has 17 active furnaces out of 27 in the district. Other additions bring the total active furnaces to 26 out of 36.

Sherwood Bros., Inc., of Baltimore, affiliated with the Richfield Oil Co., has acquired 45 service stations, constituting the Philadelphia branch of the Peerless Oil Co.

The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. has received an order from the Carb Orchard Improvement Co. for 15 8-ton explosion-tested gathering locomotives for use in the company's mines at Eccles, West Virginia. A feature of the locomotives is that the resistors, motors and switches are entirely enclosed, eliminating the possibility of an explosion. The mechanical parts of the locomotives will be built by the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

Stockholders of the Motor Transit corporation have voted to change the name of the corporation to thes Greyhound Corp., and the name of its subsidiary, Motor Transit Management Co., to Greyhound Management Co. At the same time the stockholders approved an amendment authorizing an increase in the no par common stock from 750,000 shares to 1,000,000 shares. The Greyhound Corp. owns a large bus transportation system and has an interest in a number of other large bus lines.

The Standard Telephone Co. of Texas, a subsidiary of the Associated Telephone Utilities Co. plans expenditure of nearly $250,000 for betterments and extensions of service this year. The company operates 40 exchanges interconnected with toll lines, chiefly in the upper Texas panhandle and the Oklahoma "strip."

Curb Prices Move Upward At Start; But Sag at Close

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL,
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Prices on the New York Curb Exchange started upward at the opening of today's market but ran into a torrent of profit taking in the late afternoon, with the result that the close was irregular. Selling was most effective in some of the public utility and investment trust issues which had recorded sharp gains last week, although there were a few strong spots in these groups.

Electric Bond & Share, which had been setting the pace in the public utility group, closed 3 3-8 points lower. American Gas & Electric and United Light & Power A and B lost a point or more. Arkansas Natural Gas issues were heavily bought, the common advancing 1 7-8 and the A stock 1¼. United Gas also was turned over in large volume but closed unchanged at 30¾.

Deere & Co., which recently recorded a spectacular advance in connection with the announcement of a 5 for 1 stock split-up, broke 25 points to 620, and the new stock, which is traded in on a "when issued" basis, lost 4 3-8.

Newmont Mining ran up nearly 7 points but lost about half its gain, the flurry of buying being inspired by expectations of a sharp increase in the demand for the red metal.

O. E. Anderson, Auto Dealer, Sells Out

Oscar E. Anderson, one of the pioneer automobile dealers of Escanaba, has sold his interests in the Escanaba Motor company and has retired from the local automotive field.

Mr. Anderson launched his automobile selling business in Escanaba 17 years ago and was one of the organizers and officers of the Escanaba Motor company.

For the immediate future Mr. Anderson will enjoy a thorough rest and later may decide to enter some line of business in this city.

Senior Class Play Will Be Presented Thursday Evening

The first senior class play will be presented at the Escanaba high school Thursday evening. It is a three act farce, "The Patsy."

"The Patsy" is one of the cleverest and funniest plays ever produced at the local institution and under the direction of Miss Mary Alice French it should be well received by the local public. Miss French has directed numerous plays here in recent years and in every case, the performances have been more than successful.

Two plays will be given by the senior class this year, it has been announced by senior advisor, Edward Edick. The other will probably be presented in the spring. This is the first time that the seniors have ever sponsored two productions at the local high school but because of the quantity and quality of actors, it was decided to give two plays. The other has not been selected yet.

Dealer Purchases Confiscated Furs; Pays Near $3,000

Lansing, Feb. 3—More than 1,800 furs, confiscated by conservation officers and obtained from state trappers, have been purchased from the Department of Conservation by M. Milstein Company of East Jordan. The company paid $2,963.60 for the entire lot.

The 1,833 furs were purchased by the Milstein Company during an auction of the furs at the departmental offices. The company submitted the highest of four bids.

All of the furs auctioned were raw, most of the tanned furs held by the department, having previously been sold at prices set by the department.

Some people can make a dollar go a long way, and others can keep it from going at all.

St. Joseph Cagers Play Keilmen Here Tonight

ESCANABA WILL HAVE SEMI-PRO BASKETBALL TEAM

TIP OFF HERE AT 8:15 TONITE

Dopesters Watch Closely To Determine Standings of Teams

The St. Joseph basketball team will meet the Gladstone high school five at the Escanaba high school this evening. The game will start at 8:15 o'cock.

Coach Brunelle announced last evening that there will probably be a change in lineup when the Parochials tip off against the Keilmen but he was undecided who he will use to start the fireworks.

The Dope Sheet

This game promises to give the dopesters a good idea just what is what in the district class C this year. Gladstone has defeated Stephenson, a team which holds a win over the Brunellemen. Norway had won from Vulcan, and the Parochials have split with Vulcan. All of these teams are in the class C for this district and will meet in March to determine the right to play in the peninsula finals.

The schedule prepared for the St. Joseph quintet this season is the hardest ever attempted by that organization. Playing teams in class B besides many others in their own class, the Parochials have as stiff a schedule as any class team in the peninsula. On Friday evening the St. Joseph quintet will play at Manistique where they will bump into an aggregation that ranks as class B.

Improve Offenses

The game promises to be a fast, first class tilt. The Eskymos ho'd a victory over both of these quintets and their comparative scores are approximately the same.

Both coaches, however, report that their offenses have geen improved a great deal in the past week. Gladstone depends a great deal upon O'Brien, a sharpshooter to lead the charge against the St. Joseph outfit. If Mileski, Brunelle's bulldog, can stick tight to this man during the tussle, there is no doubt that the Keilmen will have a difficult time invading the St. Joseph territory.

The game promises to bring out one of the largest crowds of the season. It gives both aggregations an opportunity to redeem themselves before an Escanaba audience. Reports from the bay city indicate that a large delegation of fans from that town will be on hand when the teams line up. That the followers of the purple jerseys will be there as a unit is a foregone conclusion.

A pep session will be held at the St. Joseph high school this afternoon in order to put the proper spirit into the teams and also into the fans.

Reserves in Prelim

In a preliminary game, the St. Joseph reserves will play the Gladstone reserves. These two teams have already played twice this season, the Gladstone five copping honors in both tilts. Stanley St. Louis will referee the prelim.

The officiating in the feature game will be adequately handled by Prin, Iron Mountain.

Bambino's Defiance Falls on Deaf Ears

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Babe Ruth's latest festure of defiance, in affect a threat to retire and live on an income of $25,000 unless the Yankees meet his demand for a new three-year contract at $85,000, caused no great excitement today along the Forty-second street baseball row in general or the Yankee club offices in particular.

Not Interested

"We are not interested and we have nothing to say," declared E. G. Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, when advised that Ruth, either personally or through an agent, had broadcast a statement from Florida in support of his salary contentions.

Ruth has rejected the two-year contract at $75,000 a year offered by the Yankees, which sum it is understood, represents the limit the club will go. It is $5,000 a year more than the Babe has received for the past three years.

Barrow and Colonel Jacob Ruppert, the club owner, not only feel that they have dealt generously with Ruth but that they "should be examined" for risking that much money on the uncertainties of baseball, Ruth in particular.

Ruth Sends Note

The owners threw the note sent by Ruth in the waste-basket when they noticed the Ruthian label. It turned out to be a snappy 500-word piece, designed to buttress the Babe's claims to bigger and better wages.

At least one morning paper had the story on its desk last night, but did not print it because of suspicion as to the possibility of a hoax, in spite of the post-mark of Palm Beach, where Ruth has been sojourning. Furthermore, the man who has mimeographed most of Ruth's statements, Christy Walsh, is now in California.

Bread and Butter

"If the Yankees reject my request for an increase," reads the Ruthian statement ,"I will remain idle, which, at my age, means retirement from baseball. I mean organized baseball. A few years ago I would not have taken this attitude. I would be obliged to sign at any terms for the same reason 95 per cent of all players have to sign—bread and butter.

"Well, there's enough bread and butter in our home even if I never touched another baseball in my life. Without receiving five cents from the Yankees during 1930 I am assured an income of $25,000 from established dividends and royalties.

"I have saved exactly $150,000 in less than three years, which pays me (an income) every three months. In addition I receive royalties from baseballs, underwear, baseball gloves and equipment, radio talks and the like. For example, three years ago a national advertiser paid me $1,000 for a ten-minute radio talk. Recently the same advertiser paid me $2,500 for the same job. Figure it out. Shouldn't the same increased value hold good at the Yankee turnstiles?"

Exhibition Games

On this basis, by inference, Ruth's salary this year should be two and a half times what it was in 1927—or $175,000.

"Take the matter of exhibition games," the statement goes on. "The Yankees have played more in the past ten years than most other major league clubs combined, and every exhibition contract reads: 'If Ruth does not play, the game is cancelled.' And yet Ruth never gets a dime from exhibition games.

"Today I am in fine physical shape. Golf, fishing and hunting have kept me in trim since last October. During the winter I rejected easy money in vaudeville and talking pictures to keep myself in shape, but if the Yankees force me into retirement I will accept some of the many offers which include a variety of entertainment propositions, exhibition games during the summer and even an offer from a circus. But I prefer to stick with the Yankees at $85,000 per year on a three-year contract."

M. S. C. TO HAVE GOOD BALL TEAM

Buddy Gibbs of Perkins One of Vets Who Will Be Back

It's a far cry to the baseball season, but Coach John Kobs is already looking over the slants of prospective pitchers and studying the work of catchers. The Michigan State College battery candidates are drilling daily in Demonstration Hall in anticipation of the southern training trip.

Coach Kobs has started making some Dixie dates for his diamond crew. He has tentatively arranged games with the Vanderbilt University and Cumberland university nines. As these institutions are in central Tennessee, the assignment will give him four games in one spot. He is making overtures for at least four more games. The athletic council, of course, must act on the southern schedule before it may be called official.

Kobs should have a pretty fair team this year. He will have veterans available for nearly every position. There are three regular infielders returning and a complete outfield, including Capt. Albert Sachs, of Lewiston, Mich. Outfielders are "Ki" Knisel, of Blissfield, Bob McCauley, of Hudson, and Max Crall, of Lansing. Outfielders are Roy Warner, of Detroit, and Bud Gibbs, of Perkins.

Loss of Jerry Byrne, big right-hander, leaves a pitching problem for Coach Kobs. Byrne will continue with the Chicago White Sox again this year. He joined the team in mid-season last year and recently signed a contract to return this spring.

Dog Mushers Get Early Start For Entries in Derby

Almost before the Daily Press office was open Monday morning entries started coming in for the American Legion 40 and 8 dog derby which is to be one of the opening day features in Escanaba's second annual mid-winter frolic, February 15 and 16.

The first boy to enter his dog as a contestant in the dog race is Vincent Lewis, an experienced musher, 304 South Thirteenth street. His steed will be "Sport," a 22 inch police-bull, eligible for class B.

The following committee has been selected by the 40 and 8 club of the Legion to take charge of details of the dog derby: Chairman—Dr. C. J. Corcoran, Percy Cameron, Ted Kessler, Tom Beaton, W. A. Thompson, J. J. Cleary, Joe Sturgeon, Helmer Skogquist, Ed Moersch.

Commish Will Probe Carnera-Rioux Bout Held Last Friday

Chicago, Feb. 3 (AP)—With the avowed intention of making a most rigid investigation, the Illinois state athletic commission tomorrow will open its probe of the unsatisfactory bout between Primo Carnera, the mountainous Venetian carpenter, and Elzear Rioux, Canadian heavyweight, at the Chicago stadium last Friday night.

The match which ended with a chorus of boos and open charges by fans that Rioux had taken a "dive", lasted just 47 seconds. Carnera winning by a knockout. The giant Italian steamed out just seven punches and Rioux went down six times and then out. Immediately afterwards, the commission ordered all purses held up and called the principals in for tomorrow's investigation.

Carnera will not be present at the hearing because of a match in Newark, N. J., Thursday night, but he will be represented by Walter Friedman, one of his American backers. Carnera and his manager, Leon See, have left depositions for the commission. Rioux and his representative, Charles Turner, will be on hand for questioning.

TALK BASEBALL IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Baseball men came to New York today acting as harbingers of spring as they talked of schedules and other things. From the National, International and Eastern leagues officials, club owners and managers met to exchange gossip of the game and in between times transact some league business.

The International League, looking to the expiration of the National Association agreement of the minor leagues, September 6, 1931, invited the two other Class AA leagues to consider problems peculiar to thse circuits. Charles H. Knapp, president of the International, was authorized to invite committees from the American Association and Pacific Coast to meet with a committee from his circuit in Chicago in June to exchange observations.

The National League meets tomorrow afternoon to approve the 1930 schedule and take up any other matters presented.

The International League announced a staff of eight umpires signed and a contract submitted to the ninth man to complete the staff. The umpires signed are: William Finneran, Doll Derr, Ollie Chill, Fred Westervelt, George Parker, Barry McCormick, Charles Donnelly and Thomas Erwin. Jack Carroll has not returned his signed contract. McCormick goes to the International from the National League while Donnelly and Erwin come up from the Texas League.

Garden Ekes Out 26 - 25 Win Over Marinette Cagers

Garden—(Special)—The Garden City basketball team nosed out Marinette in a thrilling game here Saturday evening, 26 to 25, after trailing for three periods.

Baker and Winter, Garden aces, went on a scoring rampage in the final period to close up a narrow margin and forge ahead for victory. The score at half time was 11 to 8 in favor of Marinette, a lead which they still maintained at the end of the third period, 17 to 15.

U. S. Tennis Team Will Meet Canada In Davis Cup Play

Paris, Feb. 3 (AP)—Davis Cup tennis players of the United States will encounter Canada in the opening American zone contest of the 1930 campaign to recover the famous trophy from the French, it was determined today at the official draw.

Cuba and Mexico, bracketed together for the first round play, are the only other nations entered in that zone.

The draw was made amid great ceremony at the Elysee palace by President Doumergue of France, the holding nation, who drew the names of the various challenging countries out of the Davis Cup itself.

By a coincidence, Germany and Great Britain, which met in the European zone final last year, were drawn to meet in the first round of the 1930 competition. Although the Germans were successful in their last meeting their team has been weakened considerably since by the death of Hans Modenhauer in an automobile accident.

With the Germans and British clashing at the outset, one of the strongest teams in Europe is sure to meet untimely elimination. These teams are in the lower half which appears slightly the stronger, also containing Australia and Italy.

In the upper half Japan and Holland, challenging this year in the European zone instead of the American, the Japanese open against the Hungarians.

GESSNER WILL HANDLE CAGERS

Coliseum Is Offered As Headquarters; Play Snappy Outfits

Escanaba will have a city basketball team this year! Announcement was made last evening by Harold Gessner, local business man who will manage the aggregation, that arrangements have been completed to place a city cage team on the floor this winter that will be on the par with the best basketball lineups in this district, covering the entire upper peninsula and Wisconsin.

Escanaba Independents

For this year, at least, the city team will be known as the Escanaba Independents and the roster will include the best talent in the city. Also, the outfit will consist only of Escanaba talent, including such stars as Puckelwartz who will act as captain of the team, Groop, Demars, Reidy, Tarzan Johnson, Moreau, Gleich, and others. Tryouts, with aspirants from every amateur team in the city, will be held in the near future, Manager Gessner has announced.

The Coliseum has been offered for use as a gymnasium and preparations have been already started to remodel the building into a first class, regulation size court—90 feet long. Backboards, baskets and other paraphernalia have been received and will be installed immediately. Showers, lockers and dressing room equipment will arrive soon and will be installed as quickly as possible.

Arrange to Seat 2,000

Seating capacity at the Coliseum will be adequate immediately to handle 500 persons and arrangements have been made to accomodate 2,000 fans at a later date.

The Crystal Falls Ramblers have definitely been booked to appear here. Led by Eddie Chambers, former University of Michigan star, they are recognized as the peer cage team in the peninsula. Games with Niagara, conquerors of the Crystal Falls Ramblers, Munising Dragoons, Green Bay Dodgers, Fond du Lac All Stars, and many first class traveling teams are being negotiated and will undoubtedly appear on the Independents' card this winter.

Game Becoming Popular

Amateur basketball has been received by the Escanaba public with increasing popularity each year. The task of organizing a semi-professional outfit is the logical step to follow. The class of basketball that will be played will be of the best. The Independents will hold a practice session regularly three or four times a week in order to perfect a system which will rank on a par with semi-pro aggregations which they will meet.

The schedule which will be adopted by the city cagers for this season has not been completed but definite announcement is expected in the near future.

MANDELL WINS AGAIN

Cleveland, O., Feb. 3 (AP)—Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., world's champion lightweight, was given the decision in a 12-round bout with Joey Goodman, Cleveland, at Public Hall here tonight. Mandell weighed 137½ and Goodman 136½. The title was not at stake.

Hunter and Other Favorites Stay in National Meet

BY TED VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Led by Frank Hunter who won again in a walk, the favorites in the national indoor tennis championship advanced all along the line today as the field narrowed to thirteen contestants.

Among the survivors were all eight of the seeded stars—Hunter, J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J.; Julius Seligson of Lehigh; Herbert Bowman of New York; Harris Goggeshall of Des Moines, Iowa, now a student at Harvard; Eugene McCauliff, Jr., former Fordham player; Perrine Rockafellow, New York, and Merritt Cutler, New York.

Hunter, a one-sided favorite for the title he won in 1922, crushed S. J. Wadsworth, New York, 6-1, 6-2, to enter the third round. He now has dropped but five games in the two matches.

Hall, who is expected to meet Hunter in the final, won twice after defeating Abraham Bassford, New York, 6-2, 6-1. Hall trimmed Lincoln Halberstadt, New York, 6-1, 6-3.

Murphy Eliminated

One of the best of the younger contenders, Dick Murphy of Utica, N. Y., was eliminated by the more experienced Bowman, 6-3, 7-5. In an earlier match Murphy, who formerly held the national junior indoor crown and is now a student at Harvard, made an impressive debut by smothering Tom Cahalan of Fordham, 6-1, 6-0.

Also eliminated was Udo Zaenglein of Wurzburg, Germany, who was pulverized in the second round by Cutler in love sets. The German was too erratic for the New York player who is at his best on the familiar courts of the Seventh Regiment armory where the tournament is being played.

Goggeshall reached the third round easily by defeating Robert D. Little of Tuscaloosa, Ala., 6-2, 6-1.

Considine in Running

Bob Considine, lanky Washington youth who shares the national public parks indoor doubles title, stayed in the running and next encounters Rockafellow, former Colgate star. The Washington boy's second round victim was Giles Verstraten, New York youngster, who was beaten at 6-2, 7-5.

A jump ahead of the field, McAuliffe of the seeded group, was the only player to reach the quarter-final round. He did so by trimming Stanley Harte, of N. Y. U., 6-2, 6-1.

In the third round tomorrow, Hunter, at the top of the draw, meets Frank Bonneau of New York and the other matches in order are: Bowman vs. Lieut. R. M. Watt, Jr., U. S. Navy; Rockafellow vs. Considine; Hall vs. Ed Burns, New York; Cutler vs. E. E. Jenkins, New York; Julius Seligson vs. Appel, and Sidney Seligson vs. Coggeshall.

Risko Will Fight Campolo In Miami

Cleveland, Feb. 3 (AP)—Johnny Risko, who, according to the New York boxing commission, is "too small" to fight Vittorio Campolo, the Big South American heavyweight in the empire state, has been signed to fight Campolo at Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.

Danny Dunn, Risko's manager, announced tonight that he had accepted an offer of Tom McArdle, New York, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, for the Cleveland heavy to mix with Campolo in a semi-final to the Sharkey-Scott bout.

Dunn wired confirmation of the contract late today.

"We didn't get as much money as we wanted," Dunn said "but it is our big chance to show up Sharkey and Scott. Johnny will steal the show."

Dunn did not divulge the amount of the guarantee.

Felch Basketeers Defeat Daggett in Two Contests

Felch, Mich., Feb. 3.—(Special)—Coach Alford's quintet easily defeated Daggett in a double bill. The first team took Daggett's measure by the tune of 28-12. Capt. Carlson for Felch was the outstanding star on floor work; through his speed Felch had the ball the majority of the time. Backlund, Felch's center was high point man with eleven points. With the return of Blomquist at guard the Felch boys played good team work.

For Daggett Capt. Bennett showed up well on his overhead shots. He was high point man for his teammates with six points to his credit. Johnson played a good game at guard.

The scores follow:

Lomski-Walker Bout Is Again Postponed

Detroit, Feb. 3 (AP)—A third postponement of the match between Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, and Joe Lomski, "The Aberdeen Assassin," scheduled for Olympia, Feb. 14, was announced today. The new date for the match is Feb. 21. The postponement is because of an injury suffered by Walker. The fight was originally scheduled for Feb. 4 but postponed because of a mishap which occurred to Walker while sparring in preparation for Lomski.

FIGHT COMMISH HOLDS MEETING

Delegates Realign Ranking Boxers in All Classes

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 3 (AP)—The National Boxing association met here today in special session, drew match pairings to determine official wrestling championships, suspended Mushy Callahan, junior welterweight boxing champion for failure to defend his title, appointed new boxing and wrestling championship committees and realigned the ranking boxers in all classes.

Delegates from twenty states and Canada attended. Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles, was ranked second in the junior welter division.

The delegates met first in the N. B. A. hadquarters here where Stanley Isaacs, N. B. A. president, appointed James M. Brown, Ypsilanti, Mich., chairman of the Michigan state boxing commission, to draw the pairings in the official wrestling elimination title tournaey. Only two men qualified for the heavy title—John Pesek, Ravenna, Neb., and Jim Londos, Philadelphia.

Meet Before March 17

The N. B. A. rules require the first matches in all four classes be held by March 1 and where a second bout is necessary on account of a bye, the title will be decided by March 20.

Promoters may forward sealed bids to headquarters here for the right to stage the elimination and title bouts. The bids will be opened at the N. B. A. offices here on Feb. 15, matches being awarded to the highest bidder.

Isaacs told the delegates that the N. B. A. in its nation wide wrestling investigation, found startling instances of fake advertising, corruption of many interests, and an amazing perpetration of frauds on the public, press and athletic commissions.

Under Suspension

The managers of Pesek and Londos told the N. B. A. that if the organization would permit, they wanted the winner of the official heavyweight bout to meet Gus Sonnenberg, Providence, R. I., and Richard Shikat, Philadelphia. The latter two heavyweights are under suspension for failure to enter the tournament but the N. B. A. voted to reinstate either or both if they will meet the Pesek-Londos winner.

Purdue Swamps Ohio State In Basketball By Score of 60 - 14

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 3 (AP)—Purdue University maintained its lead in the Western Conference basketball race with a 60 to 14 win over Ohio State here tonight. The Boilermakers have won three straight.

Charles "Stretch" Murphy, Purdue center, broke his own individual scoring record by scoring 28 points on 13 field goals, and two free throws.

Ohio State's only score in the second period, after trailing 32 to 12 at the intermission, was one field goal.

After eight minutes of play in the first half, the Boilermakers held only a four point margin at 13 to 9, but then Harmeson and Boots started feeding the ball to Murphy and Wooden, Purdue guard, and the ensuing hail of baskets quickly piled up the score.

Boat Races To Be Held August 16-17

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—The gold cup regatta will be held at Red Bank, N. J., August 16-17, for the second consecutive year, the American Power Boat association announced today.

Seven speed boats are expected to enter the race for the coveted trophy with Richard F. Hoyt's craft, The Imp, defending the cup won last year. In conjunction with the speed boat classic the Red Bank Yacht Club National Sweepstakes will be inaugurater. This race will be open to any boat with a single engine.

B. & P. W. CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. Lilian Reynolds Re-elected Head of Organization

At a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club held at the Ludington hotel last evening, Mrs. Lillian H. Reynolds was elected president of that organization for another year. The other officers elected for the fiscal year 1930-31 were: Josephine Ryan, vice-president, Kathryn Wicking, corresponding secretary, Ethel Gillmore, treasurer, and Mildred Hale, chaplain.

Members of the club were delightfully surprised when a messenger arrived with a beautiful bouquet of flowers from C. Peterson and Sons, florists, with best wishes on the occasion of their first anniversary. The members showed their appreciation by responding with hearty applause.

Mrs. Lillian Reynolds presided over the business session of the meeting, at which time plans were made for the birthday party of the club which will be held Monday, January 17, at 6:45 p. m. at the Ludington hotel. The committee in charge is making elaborate arrangements for the affair, when a bingo party will be the chief diversion of the evening. Members of the club will furnish prizes for the bingo games. It was also decided that all who wish to do so may appear in costume. Reservations must be in the hands of Mrs. Lillian H. Reynolds, telephone 713 or 1517 or Miss Marie D. Pters, telephone 950-W by Saturday, February 15.

An exhibition dance presented by the Misses Van Gaal and Dorothy Gilbert was enthusiastically received by the members.

The question of a community club for Escanaba was brought up and after considerable discussion, it was unanimously decided that the slogan of the club for 1930-31 will be "A Community Club for Escanaba."

Miss Isabelle Cass gave a report on the program of the rehearsals for "Shawls of Yesterday" which is under the direction of Miss Adrienne Tousignant. The best talent in the city has been procured for this affair and it promises to be the outstanding event in its line of the year. The ticket sale is progressing satisfactorily and everything points to a record breaking attendance.

Following the business session an informal social hour was enjoyed, and the meeting was voted one of the most enjoyable ever held.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Auditing Committee—There will be a meeting of the auditing committee of the Delta county board of supervisors at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Dance at Unity Hall — Charles Johnson's Wolverine orchestra will furnish the musical numbers for a dancing party given this evening at Unity hall. The public is heartily welcome to attend.

W. C. T. U. Meeting—The W. C. T. U. members will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Erick Palmer, 1210 Third avenue south.

Will Wed Soon—Application for marriage license was filed yesterday at the county clerk's office by August Eckman, Jr., Escanaba, and Ellen Sjoberg, Illinois; also by Ragner Nordgren and Ella Olson of Escanaba.

Ladies Aid Meeting—There will be a meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the First Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Graham, 1910 First avenue south, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Lunch will be served. A large attendance is desired.

Collegians Make Hit—Playing for a group of close to 300 skaters, the new Collegians orchestra won praise for their performance at the Coliseum Sunday evening, and their numbers were encored enthusiastically. The feature for Wednesday evening at the rink will be a "lucky circle" skating party.

Names Omitted—Several names were omitted from the honor rolls of the various grade schools in Escanaba for the last semester. Names left out were: Franklin school, Betty Jane Brown, 717 Second avenue south; Robert Carlson, 609 First avenue south; Evelyn Meunier, 222 North Twelfth street, and Leonard Tagge; Jefferson school, Mae Roushorn.

Sodality Meeting—A skating and bingo party will feature the meeting of the Young Ladies sodality of St. Patrick's parish this evening. A large attendance is desired.

E. F. U. Meeting—The Equitable Fraternal Union will hold its regular meeting tonight when plans will be made for a card party to be held Tuesday evening, February 18, at Grenier's hall. Bridge and five hundred will be played.

Well, He's Old Enough

New York—When a man's 73 he ought to know his own mind—also he knows whether he ought to marry. So that's what Joseph A. Flynn, 72, figured when he took out a license recently to marry Mrs. S. P. Sommer, 35. Flynn is the father of Maurice "Lefty" Flynn, former Yale football star.

E. H. S. TO ENTER MUSIC CONTEST

Event to Be Staged at Iron Mountain on May 15 to 17

Escanaba high school will be represented at the upper peninsula music contest to be held in Iron Mountain May 9 and 10, it was announced yesterday by R. P. Bowers, director of music.

The winners in the upper peninsula contests will be eligible to go directly to the national music competitions, without competing with Lower Michigan high schools beforehand. The national band contest will be held in Flint, May 22 to 24, and the national orchestra meet at Lincoln, Neb., May 15 to 17.

Tryouts Started

Local contests have been started at the Escanaba high school to determine what instrumental or vocal groups will compete at Iron Mountain.

Due to the confusion caused in the routine of the Northern State Teachers college at Marquette, the president of that institution announced a few weeks ago that it would no longer hold the contest. At first it was believed that might result in the indefinite suspension, but the Iron Mountain Lions' club urged school officials to notify the state the contest would be welcomed here.

About 1,500 students, representing every section of the peninsula, participate in the contest. They are members of high school bands, orchestras, and glee clubs.

Bowers on Committee

Members of the contest committee which has approved Iron Mountain as the scene of the spring contests are: E. Robert McEldowney, Stambaugh, chairman; Elna Lauenstein, Menominee; R. P. Bowers, Escanaba; Herbert L. Murr, Iron River, and Mr. Reppe, Iron Mountain.

The contest has become one of the most notable musical events in upper Michigan and is largely responsible for the interest in music that is shown in the schools.

Slow Sidewalk Shovelers Set Snowplow Back

Except for the moving of cars along the curb, snow removal on Ludington street was not a heavy task yesterday, although the cost per load was higher than in more severe storms. A complete cleanup of the street was effected in a few hours by the snow loader and trucks.

If folks along the street would clean off their sidewalks before the clean-up crew comes along it would assist in the efficiency of the work, city employes point out. Sidewalks shoveled after the loader has passed through means additional snow along the curb, and this has to be hauled away before it is packed down by traffic or it will cause difficulties in future storms.

Tells of History Of Kiwanis Club

The history of the Escanaba Kiwanis club was reviewed by Attorney T. E. Strom at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the organization at the Ludington hotel yesterday noon.

Mention was made by Attorney Strom of the service given by the late Hal K. Rammel during his membership in the Escanaba Kiwanis club. Mr. Rammel was always prominently identified with the various activities of the organization.

Outstanding members of the local Boy Scout troops were guests of the Kiwanians at the luncheon. The community chest matter was referred to the special committee for further consideration.

Arrest Stearns, Alleged Burglar, At Logging Camp

Earl Stearns of Gladstone, wanted by Delta county authorities as a burglar and parole violator, was arrested about midnight Saturday at the Roberts logging camp on the Mashek line north of Cornell. Stearns was arraigned before Justice H. E. Ranguette Monday morning, and demanded an examination. He was placed under $3,000 bond, and will appear for preliminary hearing this afternoon at two o'clock.

In October, 1927, Stearns was convicted of robbing the drug store at Wells of about $800 worth of merchandise, and was placed on a five-year parole for that offense, according to records at the sheriff's office. At the last term of court, testimony implicated him in the breaking and entering of the Carroll farm house at Flat Rock last October, and since that time has been sought by local officers. He was arrested only a few hours after he had come to the lumber camp to work, and was in his bunk when the officers made their surprise visit.

Funeral Rites for Former Resident of Perkins Held

Perkins, Mich., Feb 3.—(Special) Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the Swedish Lutheran church at Upsala, Minn., for Mrs. Pearl Olson who passed away Thursday afternoon at the home of relatives where she made her home during an extended period of illness.

Mrs. Olson was born in Perkins and was the oldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Vedin. After the death of her mother she went to Minnesota to make her home with relatives coming back to Perkins on a visit five years ago, at which time she was married to Carl Olson and lived for two years at Gwinn. Besides her husband she is survived by two small children and the following sisters and brothers, Stella, Helen, Mayme and Clarence Vedin all of whom reside in Minnesota.

IN 3 WEEKS KIDNEY, BLADDER, STOMACH TROUBLES DISAPPEAR

Taniac Only Medicine To Reach This Stubborn Case

The way Taniac takes hold of your troubles and ends them would seem almost unbelievable were it not for the experiences of thousands of men and women who have put it to the test and have found themselves restored to health, freed from so-called rheumatism, stomach, kidney, liver and bladder troubles by the use of this super medicine. Here's one man, Mr. Charles L. Stults, a carpenter and cabinet maker who suffered night and day for years until Taniac put an end to his troubles and made him a new man. "I suffered from a rundown condition for 3 or 4 years. I also had some kidney and bladder troubles as well as indigestion, gastritis and pains in stomach and side, chest and shoulders. I had lost considerable weight and my sleep was disturbed 4 or 5 times a night. I often had tried other things which failed to help me but after I had taken 3 bottles of Taniac my kidney, bladder trouble and pains disappeared and never returned. I now sleep well and my pep and weight have all been recovered." Taniac gives results and gives them quick for every herb, bark and root in it is a strong potent medicine. Like all good things it has its imitators but remember while others make glowing promises Taniac is the ONE real medicine that backs its claims with a guarantee of money refunded if it does not help you. Do not accept a substitute. At your druggist.

Throw Away The Old 1929 Tags, Officers Advise

This is the season when 1929 automobile license plates are absolutely out of style, in the opinion of law enforcement officers of Delta county. The sheriff's department, state police, and Escanaba police department join in issuing their annual warning to motorists, and promise that motorists still trying to use the last year tags are likely to get into trouble.

The sheriff's department has already reported finding two or three violators. Officers point out that drivers have had a whole month to secure the new plates, and believe there is no excuse for laxity at the present time.

Took It At Middle Age

"I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at Change of Life. Now I still take it every spring and fall and it keeps me in good health. I am able to take care of an eight-room house and garden, at the age of 71 years. I will praise the Vegetable Compound wherever I go for it is a wonderful medicine for women. They should give it a good trial by taking about five bottles."—Mrs. Clara Riley, 2100 Paxton and 4th Avenue, Sioux City, Iowa.

ON WITH THE DANCE

A True Story of the Younger Set

THE Friday evening dancing party was the week's high spot for the young folks of a certain small country club. A four-piece orchestra always supplied the rhythm until older members conceived the idea that mechanical music would serve the youngsters just as well—and cost less.

Accordingly, a music machine was installed. The plan worked once, but the next Friday the little band triumphantly returned to the job.

"What's wrong with your new music box?" a father asked. "Wouldn't you rather dance to Whiteman and Vallee records than to a tin-pan band?"

Junior shook his head:

"Mechanical music is fine at home but it hasn't the right kick for a dance."

What is true of dancing must be equally true of the theatre. Are YOU getting YOUR money's worth in the theatre?

Benzol Delcol

Gasoline's Successor

Quick, Positive Action Even in Coldest Weather From This Super-Fuel

Over 60% of the trucks operating this winter are using Delcol Benzol as a most satisfactory successor to gasoline. Everyday the ranks of pleasure car drivers using Benzol increases. Why? Because they have found that Benzol virtually eliminates the most disagreeable element of winter driving—stalling. Benzol's quick, positive action permits batteries to retain maximum winter strength, permitting cold storage and parking out-of-doors even in sub-zero weather for indefinite periods. This distinctive Benzol feature is in addition to guaranteed extra mileage, quicker "pick-up," greater speed, and elimination of "knocking" from carbon deposits.
